

BRUCE HUTCHISON EXPLORES SITUATION IN OTTAWA

St. Laurent Facing First Real Test of Political Leadership

By BRUCE HUTCHISON, Editor, The Victoria Daily Times
OTTAWA—The first real test of Prime Minister St. Laurent as a party leader is now approaching. By common consent he has been a successful prime minister. By the records of two elections he has been the greatest vote-getter in Canadian history. But he has yet to prove that he understands the management of that vast and complex organism called a national party as it was understood by King, Laurier and Macdonald.

Hutchison

Mr. St. Laurent's career as prime minister has been all sunshine until now. His unequalled personal prestige, combined with a gigantic business boom, has insulated him from the troubles of his predecessors. There have been greater prime ministers. There has never been a prime minister so fortunate or so universally popular or so inwardly serene.

Production Act was resolved to avoid such blunders in 1956. It would confront Parliament united, assured and regnant. Instead, the session had hardly got under way before the government began to appear divided, confused and hesitant. Its mistakes were trivial in substance but gaudy in look.

The opposition had drawn blood from a minor Liberal artery and seemed to think that it was reaching for the jugular. Actually it had made the government look foolish for the moment but had accomplished nothing likely to be remembered six months hence.

MISSING JET PILOT SAFE IN B.C. WILDS

EDMONTON (CP)—The RCAF reported today that a jet pilot missing since Sunday afternoon, has been spotted 80 miles northeast of Fort St. John, B.C.

Fort St. John is 350 miles northwest of Edmonton.

The RCAF said the pilot, FO Ernie Howlett, a 27-year-old Australian, appeared to be in good condition.

An Otter plane, equipped with skis, was sent from Fort St. John to pick him up.

The pilot, on a long-range navigational flight from his base at St. Hubert, Que., bailed out Sunday on a 400-mile flight from Annette Island, Alaska, to Fort Nelson when his fuel supply ran low.

The RCAF reported the wrecked aircraft was spotted near FO Howlett.

Did Queen Laugh at Racy Revue? Why Did Horse Visit Palace?

FROM UP AND AROUND

LONDON (UP)—British reporters said today they were prevented Tuesday night from describing Queen Elizabeth's reaction to a mildly racy sketch in a French revue, "La Plume de Ma Tante".

In the scene called "Trapped" two men find themselves unable to get out of one of the circular booths the French keep on the sidewalks as public comfort stations.

"I hope the Royal party found the scene as funny as the rest of the apparently rocking house," Hickey wrote. "But I cannot say."

Following the show a horse went to Buckingham Palace all by himself to repay the visit by the Queen. Police halted him just short of the royal doorstep.

The animal, a 10-year-old white Arab named Caid, is in the cast of the French revue. Not long after the final curtain, late homegoers were astonished to see Caid, riderless, trotting toward the palace.

Seven Killed In Stormy Northwest

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—The second disastrous storm of the winter season covered the U.S. west coast with death and destruction.

The three-day combination of howling winds, heavy rains and drifting snow began easing off today but floods still imperiled residents of several areas. The storms caused at least seven deaths and numerous floods in Washington, Oregon and California.

Railroads and highways were blocked by slides, whole communities were isolated and communication lines were ripped out throughout the three-state area.

The weather bureau cancelled storm warnings which had been in effect for 48 hours, but warned there would still be occasional rain and snow. It said, however, the huge storm centre, "hanging" almost motionless off the Washington coast, had spent its fury.

Floods isolated the farming town of Connell, Wash., and the Grant's Pass, Ore., area declared a state of emergency as waters of the Rogue River reached flood level.

Aid Logger Shortage

OTTAWA (CP)—A spokesman for a British Columbia loggers' delegation said today the federal labor department has agreed to help locate qualified men in eastern Canada for work in B.C. woods during the coming logging season.

BCE Hydro, Thermal Electric Projects To Add 450,000 H.P.

A $50,000,000 hydro and thermal-electric program was announced today by Dal Grauer, president of the B.C. Electric.

The program will add more than 450,000 horsepower to the electric supply of the lower mainland and southern Vancouver Island over the next five to six years.

Mr. Grauer said it is by far the largest power program undertaken in the 59-year history of the company, almost double the size of the Seton and Cheakamus projects, totalling 248,500 horsepower. These will come into operation this summer and next.

Mr. Grauer said work will start this year on a $7,000,000, 130,000-horsepower thermal-electric plant which will generate energy by burning natural gas.

Construction Starts This Summer

Construction will start this summer, Mr. Grauer said, on the development of the $13,000,000 second and ultimate stage of the company's Bridge River generating plant.

Four new machines totalling 320,000 horsepower will be added, raising the total capacity from this source to 568,000.

This would require another massive storage dam to impound water for year-round operation of the four new generating units; a second 2 1/2-mile tunnel through Mission mountain, and a new power station approximately half a mile west of the existing plant.

Soviet Trade Treaty Details Next Week

OTTAWA (CP)—Details of a "most favored nation" trade agreement between Canada and Russia likely will be announced in the Commons next week by Trade Minister Howe.

A trade department official said today negotiations between Canadian experts and a seven-man Soviet delegation are in their final stages. The talks are expected to end late this week.

Nine Negro Ministers Arrested in Alabama

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Nine Negro ministers, including a world leader in the African Methodist Episcopal Zion Church, were arrested today in indictments charging participation in Montgomery's bus boycott.

The international church leader picked up on a warrant charging illegal boycotting was Dr. S. S. Seay of Montgomery, executive secretary of the home missions board of the Zion churches of the world.

Plumbers Ask $2.94

VANCOUVER (CP)—Plumbers employed by 100 B.C. firms are asking a 25 per cent wage boost and other concessions. The men, members of the Plumbers, Pipefitters and Steamfitters Union (AFL-TCL) local 170, seek a 59 cents an hour increase for journeymen and 46 cents for helpers. Journeymen now get $2.35 an hour.

CLANS GATHER FOR INDOOR MEET

Brave laddies of these half dozen kilted dancers, pupils of Adeline Duncan, will kick heels Saturday at third indoor meet of Victoria Highland Games Association, in Army, Navy and Air Force

Veterans' Hall. Left to right are Wayne Fielder, Greg Underwood, Gordon Troy, Angus McKenzie, Jim McGregor and Dennis Underwood. Entrants will be from all over Island.

IN PARLIAMENT

Federal Power Aid Rejected by Government
(From Times News Services)

Two days of debate on development of Canada's power resources have ended with defeat of two opposition motions seeking a program of federal support in that field.

A Progressive Conservative motion proposed joint federal-provincial investment in power projects for provinces which want help. The CCF, added a rider calling for an immediate federal start on the long-discussed South Saskatchewan River power irrigation plan.

The first was defeated Tuesday night on a vote of 141 to 71 and the second went down 141 to 70.

The South Saskatchewan motion was presented by R. R.

Pearkes Urged Federal Aid

The power resources debate also ranged over a variety of other power projects in which opposition members asked for federal participation.

Bert Laboe (S.C. Cariboo) spoke of joint development of the Fraser and Yukon rivers. Maj. Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC (PC, Esquimalt-Saanich), urged federal co-operation with British Columbia in developing that province's rivers. Only 2,246,000 horsepower had been developed of the estimated 25,000,000 horsepower available for B.C. hydro development.

The Canadian people would not tolerate it if the government refused to license some proposed power project on an international river without accepting the responsibility to help bring about an expansion of power.

Gen. Pearkes said last year the federal and British Columbia governments had "failed lamentably" to co-operate on a proposal to dam the Columbia river. He was referring to the B.C. government's plan to permit the Kaiser Aluminum Corp. of the U.S. to build a storage dam at the south end of the Arrow of the estimated 25,000,000 horsepower available for B.C. hydro development.

The Canadian people would not tolerate it if the government refused to license some proposed power project on an international river without accepting the responsibility to help bring about an expansion of power.

B.C., Ottawa Conference Asked

George McLeod (S.O.Kanagan-Revelstoke) urged a conference between the federal and B.C. governments to "get down to business and lay plans" for development of the potential of the Columbia River in B.C.

"For some reason, all plans for the development of the Columbia are at a standstill," he said. But B.C. needed the Columbia's power and all Canada would benefit from it.

O.C. SOCCER

LONDON (UP)—Manchester City and Sunderland gained the quarter-finals of the British Soccer League's Football Association cup competition today in replays of two of last Saturday's tie games.

Manchester City defeated Liverpool, 2-1, and Sunderland shut out Sheffield United, 1-0.

Manchester City and Sunderland join Arsenal, Tottenham, Everton, Newcastle United and Birmingham in the quarter-finals.

The other quarter-finalist will be decided when Blackburn and West Ham replay their fifth round scoreless tie.

Science Reports Special Tablet Relieves Painful Monthly Cramps For Most Women Tested!

Boston, Mass. (Special)—New promise of relief for women who suffer distress of monthly cramps and nervous tension is found in a remarkable tablet... developed especially to relieve this female discomfort. It offers great relief during that distressing period each month!

Clinical tests report remarkable results. For most women tested, pain and cramps were strikingly relieved! Even on the first day, many had no nagging headaches, no bothersome backaches or other functionally-caused distress... were also less jittery the trying week before their period!

The remarkable tablet contains not just one or two ingredients but a unique combination of special medicines. That's why it offers such striking relief. It acts on the cause of the distress... has excellent power to calm uterine contractions, and it also works through a woman's sympathetic nervous system.

Called "Lydia E. Pinkham's Tablets", the formula was developed by the world's largest manufacturer devoted exclusively to relief of women's ailments! Easy-to-take, Pinkham's Tablets are available at all drug stores.

So why suffer needlessly? Take Pinkham's Tablets yourself. See if you don't feel worlds better this very month! See if you don't escape much of the irritability and discomfort—both before and during those "difficult days." For liquid form... ask for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Don't Experiment On Us—Topaz Plea

Landfill Garbage Plan Draws 150 To Meeting But Decision Delayed

If the city wants to experiment with sanitary landfill-garbage disposal let it be done where city residents won't be affected, Topaz area spokesman J. C. Saunders said at S. J. Willis Junior High School Tuesday night.

Sanitary landfill isn't an experiment, it has been proven elsewhere, replied city engineer J. C. Garnett.

These statements summed up the attitude of both sides in the argument over the city's proposal to establish a landfill garbage disposal system in the Topaz Park area.

A crowd of 150 attended the meeting which was sponsored by the S. J. Willis PTA.

The PTA delayed decision on whether it will join with Quadra PTA and the Topaz Heights Citizens' Committee in opposing the plan which is now being studied by council public works committee.

Heavy Entry For Games Here Saturday

Third annual indoor meet of the Victoria Highland Games Association promises to be the best yet, officials said today.

Entries are arriving from all over Vancouver Island for the meet, slated for Saturday in the hall of the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans, 1001 Wharf.

Highlights of the gathering of the clans will be of course, piping and dancing. Selections by the Victoria School Boys' Pipe Band will lead off competitions. Those in the quadrille competitions will compete for the Jessie Duncan Trophy.

The meet will be in two sections, the first starting at 2 p.m. and ending at 6 p.m. for intermission, and starting again at 7.30 p.m. Dancing, both old and modern, will be held from 9 p.m. to midnight.

Copmeyer is John McKay, assisted by J. Noble and Pipe Major Ian Duncan.

then compact the garbage and cover it each day with two feet of earth.

A huge cage would sit over the ditch on wheels and could be moved to cover the operations at all times. This would effectively foil scavenging seagulls and other birds which might spread the garbage, Mr. Garnett said.

Mr. Saunders said his group had information that prevailing winds would cross the garbage and blow directly on adjoining homes. He said 150 families with a total of 400 children would be threatened with disease.

"It could jeopardize the health and lives of our children," he stated.

"What's to prevent our children from traversing the area? Is a fence going to keep them out?"

He said added truck traffic would endanger youngsters playing in Topaz Park, and neighboring homes would be devalued for a 10-year period.

He said drainage is so poor in the basin proposed for the garbage fill that rainwater would collect and seep into the garbage, creating pollution.

No Answer to That?

THE AFFRONT TO THE PEOPLE of British Columbia and to the Legislature in the Government's handling of the Sturdy case is directly implied in the question Mr. Tony Gargrave addressed to the Attorney General on Monday.

Why, asked the private member, was there a delay of approximately 60 days between the time the matter which started the case was presented to the chief law officer of the Crown and the time he referred it to the RCMP for investigation?

Mr. Bonner's reply—"I'm afraid I don't have the answer to that"—is not good enough.

The later action of the Attorney-General himself shows how grossly incorrect was his first reaction to the statements presented to him by Mr. David Sturdy, the Vancouver lawyer. Now they are the subject of police inquiry.

But they are the same statements which Mr. Bonner dismissed with such shallow comment when they were first drawn to his attention.

A pervading atmosphere of suspicion has resulted because no immediate action was taken to clear up the problem. That is the direct result of Mr. Bonner's treatment of the matter—an issue so grave that opposition benches have protested against the cloud which has settled not only over individuals in the cabinet but over the entire government and the legislative processes of the province.

Every day that passes without a satisfactory statement or action increases the uneasiness of the Legislature and the public.

There is a simple procedure by which this whole matter could be cleared up. Let Mr. Sommers discontinue his civil action, and let Mr. Bonner refer the matter to a commission, where it can be fully aired.

Mr. Sommers can, if he chooses, re-open his civil action after the commission hearing. This is a not uncommon practice in law.

It's up to Mr. Sommers and Mr. Bonner. They can settle the whole affair in a few days, if they so desire.

Where Will They Go to College?

ACCORDING TO ESTIMATES made by Dr. E. F. Sheffield, educational division director of the federal bureau of statistics, the University of British Columbia may look for an enrollment of 15,000 in 1956 and 26,000 in 1975.

In addition to pointing out the university's needs for more equipment and accommodation, such figures stimulate consideration of junior college development in other parts of the province. Suggestions have been made that institutions of this nature may be established at Nanaimo, Chilliwack, Penticton, or Prince George.

While this speculation proceeds Victoria College has also before it estimates of enrollments for the five years ending in 1961. These are based on the use of facilities at Mount Tolmie for both the first two years of arts and sciences and a like two years in the new College of Education course.

At present the combined College and Normal School total is 731. According to predictions, when the two are joined next year under the new curriculum, and fees are raised, a student body of 718 may be expected. Estimates for succeeding years swell that total progressively to 1,426 by the 1960-61 scholastic year.

That growth will demand more buildings, equipment and staff.

While planning for such development is under way, surely prudence dictates careful thought on the extent to which Victoria College could assume a larger share of educational responsibilities in the way of degree courses. Suggestions have been made from time to time, that the College equip itself to give a full four years in arts and education, with graduates completing their studies here as B.A.s, either in arts or education.

The costs of equipment would preclude advanced work in science and probably medicine. Only at considerable expense, both in funds and duplication, could the College turn out engineers, doctors, dentists and research workers in the higher realms of science.

But Victoria does appear to be ideally situated to give the four-year course in humanities and probably education. In the capital are located the Provincial Library, the excellent Victoria Public Library and a burgeoning Victoria College Library where the main ingredients of study for arts or education may be found.

The merits of the small college and the big university are well known. The latter can afford to undertake much more costly work than the former. But the small college has the important compensation of being able to provide more individual attention to students.

There appears to be room for both in the expanding picture of higher education in this province. The time may well come when junior colleges are desirable in other parts of B.C. Before they are created, attention might be given to extending Victoria College in particular fields for which it appears most adaptable. Such a policy might have the double advantages of economy and maintenance of high standards—for the latter of which the institution at Mount Tolmie has so enviable a reputation.

The Right To Be Heard

MR. E. E. WENCH IS QUITE right when he upbraids Premier Bennett for the manner in which he choked off Mrs. Lydia Arsens' comments during the recent debate on agricultural estimates.

This is not a matter of simple discourtesy to a woman. The principle is larger. If Mrs. Arsens wants to talk about diseased chicken livers, unsanitary garbage cans, earwig bait, cures of cancer, or any other such nonsense, she is quite entitled to do so, under our democratic system.

One of the tests of freedom is our willingness to listen to opinions with which we disagree, and even dislike. In cutting short Mrs. Arsens' speech Premier Bennett revealed an arbitrary and authoritarian spirit which is not in keeping with the beliefs of free Canadian society.

Soft Breezes Over Formosa Strait

NO INTERNATIONAL BAROMETRIC forecasts calm weather over the Formosa Strait. Continuing localized squalls there could easily change into a major storm.

But across the Strait is blowing one breeze of unusual softness, though it is a breeze which can bring no comfort to the hearts of Chiang Kai-shek and his supporters.

It is the murmur of Chou En-lai wooing present Nationalists to the ways of the Chinese mainland government.

Former senior and junior officers of Chiang are numbered among the "converts" now on the mainland. They are being used with some success to propagandize the idea that Chinese should return to China and accept the new order there.

Students have been re-reading Mr. Chou's Jan. 30 speech and have been finding in it words that were glossed over in hasty preliminary perusals.

To the Nationalists he speaks in tones of sweet reason and light, though his antagonism to the United States and its defence alliance with Chiang is not softened.

Chou reminds the Chinese on Taiwan of recent history, when Communists and Nationalists fought

"shoulder to shoulder against imperialism." He urges them to "repent" and "turn over a new leaf."

"Hesitate no longer," Mr. Chou says. "I proclaim on behalf of the Chinese people and the Chinese (Communist) government: All those who want to come to the mainland to visit their relatives and friends may come; all those who want to come to the mainland for a tour of study may also come; all those who want to take the road of peaceful liberation of Taiwan, no matter who they may be or how serious their past crimes were, will be treated leniently by the Chinese people without questioning their past."

Those who have bolted from Chiang to join the Communists are being set up as decoys. They are saying, in fact from mainland China, "The people did not punish me."

The appeal is strong. And while Chou En-lai has not withdrawn his threat that Taiwan will be taken by force if no other means prevail, those other means are being tried. They are the soft breezes wafting across the uncertain waters of the Formosa Strait. No one can tell if they will thaw and eventually melt all Nationalist resistance. If they don't, the typhoon season may not be far off.

The Gardiner Plan

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

IF you belong to a group or organization, then what you and your program chairman and your recreation director must do is this: you must buy a copy of The Program Encyclopedia. This volume contains 5,000 program ideas. It tells you how to raise money, raise enthusiasm, raise the level of your Social Fun. It increases the Personal Growth of the members, and improves their family life, and stimulates them into Cultural Activity, and, honestly, it will leave you saying to yourself "I wonder how they think of these things?" Or else "I wonder why they think of these things?"

It doesn't matter if you are a member of the Loyal Order of Mountain Sheep (often known as the Northwest Mounted Fervor, or the Whelks, or the Gnus, or the Greeks, or the Mothers' Auxiliary to the Kindergarten, you can benefit by this book. Because it tells you what to do. Club after club, society after society, has folded up simply because nobody can think of what to do. For example, many a stamp-collecting club has withered away because nobody got up and said, "I know what! You know what? Let's get our wives into this club and then we can have square dancing. The Little Women of the Stamp Club!"

SMILARLY, an association of amateur actors could easily stop associating if it stuck to putting on plays, without once having a bingo night, or inviting a lecturer to come and tell about recent advances in high-fidelity sound equipment. Within my own experience, there is a mothers' auxiliary which made things hum by organizing a hairdressing evening for themselves. A hairdresser turned up with four models and he cut and discussed their hair. This not only made me hum when I heard it, but made me haw as well.

What this book does is to put new life into any outfit. Naturally, I can't discuss all the 5,000 ideas here. I can mention only a few. But they will give you an idea of the ideas, and if they make you hum, that's just jim-dandy. Goodness knows some of the ideas are brief enough. Let me quote you one or two in their entirety.

HERE is a way for your club to make money. Make plaques out of clay. Like this: "The clay, a modelling board, and for simple designs, a hairpin, are all the materials needed to make wall plaques. For more elaborate designs, an inexpensive set of professional tools may be bought. The craft is easy to learn at home from one of the many books on the subject. Finish the plaques by shel-lacking or painting, and market them in gift shops, department stores, or by personal sale." That's all.

It staggers the imagination, it really does. Picture to yourself the 186 members of the Grandmothers' Auxiliary to the Girls' Debating Society. These old men don't really need money, but they fancy they do. (Not only do they argue about how to raise money, but they have a committee to invent reasons for raising it.) They decide to raise money to rent little plots of land in which the Girls' Debating Society can grow radishes. But how to raise money for raising radishes?

ONE of the members discovers the plaque system. (Wild enthusiasm.) One hundred and eighty-seven plaque kits are bought, with money raised by selling radishes. The 186 grandmothers make ten clay plaques each, or a total of 1,860 plaques. Little clay pictures of Mount Baker, totem poles, Pauline Johnson, the Royal Family, trees, horses, fish, and Marilyn Bell. The Grandmothers' Auxiliary raises money (by raffling a scenic lampshade) to hire a truck. Into the truck go the 1,860 clay plaques and the sales committee, and off they go to the Eastwood Bay Company, the big department store. Brushed off by the store buyers, the committee sees the manager. He refuses to buy 1,860 clay plaques. They tell him his duty to society, especially the Girls' Debating Society. He tells them his duty to the shareholders and management. And since drama depends on conflict, what ensues is drama.

THE instructions on how to succeed with clay plaques may be brief. But the ones on how to have a nice stag party by means of shrimps are even briefer. What you do is eat shrimps. Serve them with a salad and soft drinks. That's all. Sounds fascinating. Makes you glad you joined a group or organization. The instructions for throwing a Doghouse Party are a bit more detailed. You have "matting inside door, cardboard fleas, general dog theme. You couldn't go wrong with cardboard fleas. Nothing about cardboard fleas in the suggestion about having a party called Caterwall Capers. (I'm not making this up. I'm not making any of it up.) No details whatsoever about Caterwall Capers. You just have a party called Caterwall Capers, that's all. Let the committee figure it out, it's what they're there for, isn't it?

AS for a Wrong Way Party... well, they go into that pretty thoroughly. "Rugs upside down, invitations written backwards, enter by back door, tables set wrong, dessert served first, winners lose." They sure do. It might be simpler to have a Shipboard Party. "Mark latitude and longitude on the floor (why on the floor?), enter by gangplank, wear sailor clothes, play shuffleboard." Whee!

As Our Readers See It

FROM A PENSIONER

Our B.C. Government is going to increase the Old Age pension to $60 per month plus all hospital and medical service including B.C. hospital insurance service provided you can pass the means test. I think this is a grand thing for the aged, crippled and infirm, etc., and I don't begrudge it.

Many persons earned a good wage but were not thrifty and squandered it, therefore they can now pass the means test and enjoy its benefits. But I have no doubt fully half of us over 70 cannot pass the means test. Where do we get off?

Let me state my own case for example. Shortly after B.C. brought in the old age pension which was then $40 per month for those who could pass the means test which was if you earned less than $600 a year, I applied for the pension and gave a true statement of my earnings. The pension board worked that out at $637.37 too much, and I was turned down, and I never got any pension until the Federal social assistance was brought in in 1952. I now get the $40 a month.

I have had to pay a total of $825.64 in medical expenses because I was thrifty and had $37 too much to pass the means test some years ago, and all the years I have missed the pension. I am now over 88 years old.

Fortunately, I had my B.C.H.S. always paid, that is one time I won out; they have paid over $1,000 on that.

But what encouragement is there to be thrifty and get $40 a month pension, when you can squander your money and qualify for $60 a month plus all medical and hospital expenses paid?

It is not a square deal.

If Mr. Bennett has so much money to throw around he might reduce the car licence fee, the gasoline, road tax, the 5 per cent sales tax, etc.

Sidney, B.C. N. E. WATTS.

ON THE LINE

To those bird lovers who are anxious to alleviate the hunger and distress of this unseasonable weather amongst our feathered friends, a good way to ensure their safety from cats, etc., is to suspend your feed tray on the clothes line.

A couple of wire coat hangers with boards to fit the width and the hooks closed to some extent helps, a lath tacked around the edge improves it.

Just see how long it takes for them to catch on!

H. WYER.

REVOLUTION THROUGH FLUORIDATION?

I see the Jaycees are planning a fluoridation campaign!!! Forcing the substance on all and every regardless seems to me rather like our cheerful friends in the Kremlin. How they would love to see us poison our water and devitalize ourselves, losing our health and ability. They could just step in and take over our lands unharmed—no bombs necessary.

The Hon. Howard Miller reported in Congressional Record of March 24, 1952, that no unanimity of opinion, even among those supposed to be experts on the subject, prevailed. He cites evidence to show that the claimed improvement of health in a city after four years of fluoridation of its water was not sustained.

I still and always will believe the medical scientists like Dr. Spiro and Dr. Walcott (not just ordinary general practitioners or medical specialists) in other lines, or dentists) are the ones to follow. They have specially studied the effects on other parts of the human body as well as the teeth—also on animals.

Also think over the fact that "it is the left-wing groups and similar organizations (peace groups and some youth movements) that are the ones supporting this drive to force fluoridation of our water supplies throughout the land." (Words written in brackets are mine and not in the quotation.)

Beware ye Jaycees that you are not being fooled by certain interests that may have induced you to innocently and ignorantly espouse the cause of fluoridation.

WRONG TIME?

May I through the medium of this paper, draw attention to the Mothers' March on Polio. We all acknowledge that it is a fine service for an even finer cause, and yet, why should February be chosen as the month for this drive?

It is a well-known fact that the unemployment figure is at its highest peak at this time of year—with illness also very evident. Why then should we be asked to go calling at homes where we know the breadwinner hasn't worked for two months, or longer, or else some member of the family is ill, adding extra expenses to already hard-pressed families?

Why could not we mothers do our marching at a more opportune time, possibly June? Then when we arrived home, we could feel proud and happy to have had a part in this fine project, instead of feeling like the heels that we now do.

"A MARCHING MOTHER."

Vancouver Island.

DESPERATE FLIGHT

The press has most generously and kindly devoted much time and space to graphically describe the desperate plight of the old age pensioners who must exist on around $50 a month. The extra $5 will enable the pensioners to exist a little more comfortably, but they must still practise rigid economy.

The unemployed too might have some little consideration. A close friend of mine, a man in the late fifties, just the age when employers shake their heads and say "Sorry," has been unemployed for some months. Because of previous low earnings he is in the $13 a week category. Yet this man, as with all the unemployed, must be barbered ($1 a cut), shaved and have clean linen, a good suit of clothes, shoes and an overcoat, in order to have any chance of a job what-ever.

Chances are he has some small savings, but how far will they go in these days of highly inflated prices for everything?

My friend's rate of unemployment allowance was raised some weeks ago by 10 cents a week (from $12.90 a week) and at the same time notice was given that the maximum benefit period was to be immediately reduced from 51 weeks to 36.

I am not an admirer of Premier W. A. C. Bennett, but what a contrast between his treatment of the aged and Federal (Liberal!) slashing of the meagre unemployment allowance.

I voted Liberal in the last Federal general election. Will the sitting member kindly remember who is paying his recently raised salary and explain to us his Government's mean action?

Who Will Shoot First?

BY JOSEPH AND STEWART ALSOP, From Washington

DESPITE the almost frantic efforts of the British and American governments to head it off, the odds on a shooting war between Israel and the Arab States are clearly going up all the time.

The odds have been measurably increased by a recent blunt, official warning delivered to the American government by Israel, and an equally blunt counter-warning from Syria. The Israeli government has warned that, come what may, the Israelis will soon start work on a canal in the demilitarized zone in the upper Jordan River. The purpose of the canal is to divert to Israel water from the Jordan, which is also claimed by Syria. And the Syrians have stated just as flatly that they will consider such action by Israel an "act of aggression."

In 1953, the Israelis made a first attempt to build the canal through the demilitarized zone. They were warned out of the zone by the United Nations command, and when Secretary of State John Foster Dulles threatened to cut off all aid unless they complied, they did so, with bitter protests.

MUTUAL AGREEMENT

Since then, President Eisenhower's special envoy, Eric Johnston, has been trying to get a mutual agreement between Syria and Israel for the exploitation of the Jordan waters. But so far he has failed, and no one now expects him to succeed.

The Israelis have warned that they mean to start work on the canal regardless, probably in March. If the Syrian counter-warning is to be taken at face value, it means that the Syrian forces will fire at the Israelis. Then the fat will be in the fire.

For the Israelis will certainly return the fire, with interest. After Israel's recent "retaliation raid" on Syria, for which Israel was censured by the United Nations, Egyptian Premier Gamel Abdel Nasser flatly promised that Egypt would go to war with Israel if the same sort of thing happened again. Thus Nasser is deeply committed.

There is really only one way that Nasser can hit Israel effectively—by bombing Israeli cities, notably Tel Aviv, with his new, courtesy-of-the-Soviets air force. The Israelis, whose army is still much stronger than Nasser's would then have an excellent excuse for marching on Egypt.

The "activist" group in Israel, which holds that there must be a showdown with the Arabs before Soviet arms turn the whole power balance in the Middle East against Israel, would gladly welcome just such an excuse.

Indeed, the formula for dealing with the Middle Eastern crisis approved at the recent meeting between President Eisenhower and British Premier Eden was especially designed to discourage the Israeli from kicking off a preventive war. The Eisenhower-Eden formula boils down about as follows:

First, if either side started a war, the American Sixth Fleet would institute a naval blockade against the aggressor. Naval aviation might also be used to chastise the aggressor, depending on circumstances. And economic sanctions would also be instituted by the United States—if Israel started the fighting, all dollar payments to Israel would be stopped.

BOARDED SUPPLIES

But this is not all. At the Washington meeting, the British pointed out that the Israeli are well equipped to withstand a blockade; they have carefully hoarded six months' worth of supplies. Moreover, as one historically minded British official pointed out, a people who ate their children rather than surrender during the siege of Jerusalem in the First Century, would not give in easily. Therefore troops might have to be used.

If so according to the formula—the troops will be British.

But already the weakness of this formula which accords with the Dulles doctrine of "fair warning to the aggressor," are becoming apparent. The Arabs themselves, far from being pleased by the hints that Anglo-American forces might intervene in case of war, are shouting that the whole thing is an imperialist plot.

More important, in the circumstances outlined above, who is the aggressor? The Israeli could only re-enter the demilitarized zone in defiance of the United Nations command. But if shots were fired, the Syrians would fire them first. And if Egypt bombs Tel Aviv, can the Israeli be blamed for marching on Egypt?

Stewart

Altogether, the tangled web in the Middle East grows more tangled every day, and the Eisenhower-Eden meeting has done nothing to untangle it. But at least it is clear that dithering inaction is likely to have fatal consequences, and that some way must be found to stop the sequence of events outlined above before it can get started.

No English Need Apply

LONDON—This nudging-zero weather we've been having certainly carries one's mind back to Canada. The same clear blue skies combined with crisp cold. Coats collars up and heads down as people get about the streets... your trousers feeling freezing cold as they hit against your legs as you walk.

It's that Canadian sort of cold weather that makes you feel full of zip, rather than England's usual damp, overcast, depressing winter weather. Awakening to sunshine and going out into the invigorating frosty air one is tempted to feel like a million—until you remember that your confounded pipes are frozen and you've got all the inconvenience of a household of taps that don't function and toilets that have gone on strike.

A freeze-up changes the face of London. For one thing it solves the city's traffic problems. The downtown sidewalks and roadways, usually crisscrossed with pedestrians and vehicles, have almost a ghost-like appearance. Suburban women prefer not to brave the cold and put off shopping expeditions into town—car drivers who have no essential business to do in the city leave their cars in their garages. Taxi and bus drivers for once are happy—driving around a London almost free of traffic jams.

But the thing I'll always remember about the biggest freeze-up for 60 years is the sight of long queues, deep deep, at all the suburban subway stations. Office workers waiting to catch trains? Not a bit of it. They're local householders whose pipes have frozen, waiting to use the "Ladies" and the "Gents."

NOT VERY COMPLIMENTARY reminder of Canada by J. P. W. Mallalieu, writing in the New Statesman and Nation: "One of the little parliamentary jokes is for an English MP to ask another English MP if he is going to try to get in during a Scottish or Welsh debate; for everyone knows that the speaker, like Canadian employers advertising jobs in the thirties, will hang out a notice, 'No Englishman need apply.'" (Editor's note—Mallalieu has his dates mixed. These signs went up after the First Great War.)

AMERICAN Professor Arthur Goodhart, illustrating the conflicting points of view of Americans and the English, says: "The fact that this country is wedded to tradition and the U.S. to progress is best summed up in their approaches to advertising."

"In advertisements," he says, "it is natural for an Englishman to think experience is of great value. English tobacco is advertised without sex appeal by a clergyman saying, 'He has smoked the same tobacco for 40 years. That would never appeal to Americans. They would have to have a young girl smoking a cigarette and saying, 'I'm the first ever to smoke this new brand.'"

HERE'S SOLACE for those who have been told over and over again that Tolstoy's War and Peace is a classic but who at each effort to read it have been a bit ashamed that they have to give up through boredom. Outstanding English author Rebecca West says: "If you really want to debunk a great writer, for heaven's sake debunk Tolstoy. War and Peace seems to me pure rubbish. So unlike war and so unlike peace. And that end, there, nobody has managed to get through to the end except me."

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Parkinson's Disease

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

Parkinson's disease or syndrome (a group of symptoms) is so common in elderly persons that many people keep asking me what can be done for it. Many years ago, Dr. Parkinson described persons who become a bit slowed up both mentally and physically. They're local householders whose pipes have frozen, waiting to use the "Ladies" and the "Gents."

Dr. Alvarez

Often these persons have trouble moving their arms and legs; they say they feel as if their muscles were full of glue. Because of this stiffness and the tremor they are extremely uncomfortable. Usually their mind remains perfectly clear. A few manage for some while to keep at work. Many stay about as they are for years; only a few become crippled.

The disease appears to be due to an injury to certain centers in the brain. In the cases of young persons this injury is due probably to an attack of encephalitis or so-called sleeping sickness or brain fever. In the cases of older persons, the trouble is often due to a little stroke which has injured the brain.

Usually physicians treat these patients with drugs related to belladonna. There are a number on the market. Sometimes one of them will relieve some of the stiffness and some of the tremor, but in many cases it does not give much help. Recently, brain surgeons have been searching for an operation which will help some of these people. Unfortunately, the only persons that have been helped so far are the younger persons who had an attack of brain fever. The many elderly persons who had a little stroke and were left somewhat crippled mentally as well as physically, are not good subjects for operation.

My advice to most persons is to wait a while until more is known about these operations and the types of patients who can be helped.

Some big perfectly healthy men and women suffer from one crop of axillary boils after another. The physician will, of course, always check immediately to see if the person has diabetes, because that might make him more susceptible to boils. Usually, nothing can be found on the examination. Fortunately, today, the taking of one of the stronger antibiotics can help. The local use of one of those antibiotics may also help. I have seen cases so bad that a surgeon had to remove the affected area and transplant skin from some other part of the body.

PLACEBOS OR DRUGS GIVEN JUST TO PLEASE

From the beginnings of time we physicians have given so-called placebos of treatment, often in the form of sugar pills. Usually we give such remedies rather than go to the great trouble of trying to explain to the patient that there was no good-known treatment for the particular disease. The patient fully expected to get something in the way of medicine, and hence some was given him. More often, perhaps, the physician gave a drug which at the time was popular and which he thought might do good. Usually, for a year or more, he kept thinking it was a good drug because so many of the patients to whom he gave it came back and said it had worked beautifully. But then gradually, he and most other physicians throughout the country quit using the substance, and after some years younger physicians hardly knew its name. What did this mean? It means that the drug had never been of any use, and all those many persons who had thought it had helped them were of the type who are easily influenced by any suggestion. They got better because they fully expected they would!

In recent years a number of physicians have made a careful study of placebos, recording what they seemed to accomplish; and the results have been astounding. Good old sugar pills have apparently brought quick relief of pain in one-third of the cases; in a third of the cases they have lowered blood pressure, and in 50 per cent of the cases they have appeared to cure colds. Is it any wonder that hundreds of thousands of people believe strongly in so-called home remedies which we doctors gave up as useless 200 years ago?

The sad part of all this is that when a big manufacturer of drugs brings out a new substance and has it tested on human volunteers he often has a hard time wondering if the favorable results reported were really due to a good drug, or to auto-suggestion.

Huntin' and Fishin'

After Monday night's heavy firing, the legislature turned to more relaxed huntin' and fishin' in the fish and game section of the Attorney-General's estimates Tuesday.

It wasn't a happy, carefree excursion entirely, but the shooting wasn't so grim. Burnaby's Mr. E. E. Winch objected to the slaughter of a few senseless animals and warned against probable extinction of some species, while Cowichan-Newcastle's Bob Strachan told the House exactly what a man had to do to go hunting or fishing in some of the vast forest management areas of the island.

First you join a rod and gun club. Then you get a permit to hunt. After that you seek a permit of access to the woods and agree to numerous regulations—some stupid and some reasonable. Finally you sign an agreement—and you have to be out of the bush by 3 o'clock. All this, said Mr. Strachan, to enter the people's forests.

Over and above that, if you're a fish and game club member some of your members have to police the area—a job he thought the fish and game people might very well do for the fees they

Lots of Questions

There were a lot of things in the AG's estimates that brought questions, some important and some insignificant. Mr. Gregory wasn't happy about the way registry fees were rising. Mr. Rae Eddie wasn't satisfied with the way jury fees were staying down. Mr. Strachan wondered on what authority a Nanaimo court clerk denied new Canadians the right to sponsor applicants for citizenship, and Mr. Brown and Mr. Gregory both felt drivers' licences needed better protection against dirt if they were going to be carried five years. Also, said Mr. Gregory, they're too big. Pretty soon a driver will need to haul a trailer to carry one.

So it went, with the attorney-general being offered more vinegar than honey. There was talk of driver education and training, safety campaigns, delayed action on reduced car licence fees and J. D. Tisdalle's criticism of the car-and-bus. It took some agile footwork on Mr. Bonner's part to come up with replies—some of them weren't answers—to Tony Garvey's questions on the A-G's responsibility for the RCMP, and Bruce Brown's inquiries on rising RCMP costs to municipalities.

Mr. Bonner knew he'd been taken over the jumps, but he did find some sympathy for encouraging reports on Doukhobors and their rehabilitation. Eventually his estimates were completed.

Nor was it all sweet reason and light when Education Minister Ray Williston rose to explain money votes in his department.

Opposition leader Arnold Webster started where he had left off in an earlier debate to ask what was being done on the Vancouver school building issue. Mr. Williston repeated his earlier explanations. The situation is something like this: Vancouver passed a $19.6 million new building ref-

U.S. Balloon Blamed

LONDON (AP)—The Czechoslovak government charged today a U.S. balloon caused the Jan. 18 crash of a Czech airliner in which 22 persons died. The charge was made in a Prague radio broadcast.

All Brothers are requested to attend the funeral of our late Brother John Ferlie from Harvard's B.C. Funeral Chapel at 3.15 p.m. on Thursday, February 23rd, 1956.

Caraway, Borage Salsify for Dinner

A book on vegetable growing, titled "Gardening for Good Eating" by Helen Fox, and found among the garden books at the Victoria Public Library, contains a most intriguing chapter on "forgotten vegetables."

Some of these can never become commercial crops since they have not the keeping qualities necessary for transportation, but the home gardener may find interest and high nutritional value in some of these plants. The ones here mentioned may be grown locally in our normal seasons, and the seed has been found to be available.

Borage is the easiest to grow. Seed may be sown outdoors and the plant is most decorative with large greyish hairy leaves and a foot-high stalk of drooping blue flowers. We have often used the leaves in salads, but now discover that they may be lightly cooked with either young beet tops or any of the spinach varieties.

Salsify, or vegetable oyster, is a vegetable to add variety to meals, especially good with chicken. Readily grown from seed, it requires similar culture to parsnip.

The roots of caraway plants are not commonly used here though the seed is known for flavoring bread and cake.

Most tantalizing of the lost vegetables is Martynia fragrans, whose penstemon-like flowers give out a deliciously fragrant blend of apples, mint and spice! The young seed pods are either pickled for later use, or boiled and eaten.

This I must see, and smell!

Plan to Import Loggers Opposed by Labor Officials

A proposal to bring 2,000 outside forest workers into B.C. for the coming logging season will be fought by organized labor and CCF members in the legislature.

Immigrants are sought by logging operators through federal employment officers who were approached by a three-man delegation: J. E. Fletcher, president of B.C. Truck Loggers' Association; Norman English, Powell River Co. logging manager; and John Burke, B.C. Loggers' Association manager.

Few men are qualified for logging among the number of unemployed in B.C. now, they said, arguing that the forest industry would suffer from competition of the construction industry this summer.

Besides immigrants, loggers seek men from eastern Canadian "depressed areas."

Ottawa Probes 'Moscow Molly' Arctic Broadcast

OTTAWA (CP)—The government plans to look into the content of Russian broadcasts being received in the Canadian north, informants said here.

One objective will be to determine whether there is possibly loose talk on the "polar net," the name given to military wireless, ham radio operations and other radio transmissions in the Canadian north.

The type of some English broadcasts from Moscow received in the Arctic indicates that the Russians are picking up gossip from the Canadian polar net, such as when the next batch of mail will arrive and postings of personnel movements from one station to another, one authority said.

It is evident, though, that neither the defence nor northern affairs department is especially concerned about the Russian broadcasts.

French Runner Dies

PLEUBAN, France (UP)—Henri Arnaud, former French track star, died last night of a heart attack. He was 65.

Arnaud established a one-kilometer world mark of 2:33 in 1912 and finished seventh in the Olympic 1,500 meter race the same year after leading for most of the distance.

Woodworkers of America president John Mackenzie, and IWA district president Joe Morris denied there is a shortage of loggers in B.C. at this time.

"We recognize," Mr. Mackenzie said, "that if our economy is to expand we must have immigrants. But the trade union movement insists immigration be on a properly planned basis. In other words we must be sure there are jobs for those who are here."

Mr. Morris pointed out last year was one of the province's highest logging production years and that if timber continues to be cut at this rate, premature depletion of forest resources will result.

He also criticized the statement that firms would prefer young men or older men with out domestic ties.

"This would appear to be putting a penalty on marriage," he said.

Frank Howard and John Squire, CCF MLAs for Skeena and Alberni, said if there is a shortage of logging workers it is because of inadequate conditions and work year.

Mr. Howard suggested there would be no need of importing men if the industry had a guaranteed annual wage.

FAMED BANDLEADER E. F. GOLDMAN DIES

NEW YORK (AP)—Edwin Franko Goldman, 78, whose name had been identified with free open air band concerts for nearly 40 years, died Tuesday.

His central park concerts had been heard by millions. He also wrote more than 100 marches, and his "On the Mall" ranks second in popularity only to John Philip Sousa's "Stars and Stripes Forever."

B.C. Probe Into Kitimat Housing 'Just Whitewash,' Says Unionist

KITIMAT, B.C. (CP)—Wally Ross, organizer at this aluminum smelter town for the deputy minister of public affairs, who found housing standards "very good," said: "Housewives, wading through water-filled basements and peering through cracked walls of their homes, take a dim view of the government whitewash on housing. They expected little from Mr. Brown's eight-hour investigation into houses unable to pass minimum standards in an area of maximum climate conditions."

SOCREDS, TORIES IN STEP

Cameron Tells Drew To Go Do a Bennett

OTTAWA (CP)—A CCF member suggested Tuesday in the Commons that Opposition Leader Drew take a lesson from former Progressive Conservative W. A. C. Bennett who switched to Social Credit and became premier of British Columbia.

Colin Cameron, Nanaimo, made the suggestion in stating his party's rejection of the Conservative party's chieftain's oblique hint Monday that the CCF and Social Credit groups should join with the Tories to put the Liberals out of office at the next federal election.

"I would suggest that he (Mr. Drew) follow the example of his former party colleague, the premier of British Columbia, who having discovered that the old grey mare of conservatism was not what she used to be in British Columbia, very nimbly leaped from her on to the 'back of the piebald pony. Social Credit, and rode into power."

Arguments advanced by Social Credit in support of a Conservative motion before the House, that the federal government help the provinces in power development, had removed the last possible obstacle for fusion between "the two parties to the right" in Canada.

"No supporter of private enterprise can have experienced one-quarter of the dismay and the disillusion experienced by socialists regarding some of the developments within the Soviet Union over the last 30 years," he said.

"Only a socialist, I suppose, could have had that disillusionment at seeing what began and might have continued as a noble experiment in human relations and social organization degenerate through the years and develop many aspects of squalid, tragedy and repression of human dignity."

Mr. Cameron said the Russian version of socialism now offers the greatest threat to the Western world.

"This threat existed because, in the short space of one generation, Russia has developed enormous industrial potential through deliberate, conscious planning."

Ganges Scout Wins Award For Gallantry

Duncan Scouter Awarded Medal

A 13-year-old Ganges scout and a Duncan assistant district commissioner today received awards along with 48 other Dominion scouts for gallantry and good services to scouting.

The awards were announced by Governor-General Massey, Chief Scout for Canada, on the anniversary of the birth of the late Lord Baden-Powell, founder of the Boy Scout movement.

Scout Robert Morris of Ganges receives a certificate of merit for gallantry, and Assistant District Commissioner William J. Powell, Duncan, receives a medal of merit for good services to scouting.

SAVED BOY

Robert received notice today of his award, the actual certificate of which will be presented at a later date. Last August he saved nine-year-old Kenneth Ashley from drowning in the swimming pool at nearby Harbor House. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Morris.

The highest award, the Cornwell Scout Badge, was won by Scout Ronald Keith Human, 16, of Morden, Man., and Scout Peter Drummond Fraser, 12, of New Glasgow, N.S.

The Cornwell Badge, the "Victoria Cross of scouting," is given for pre-eminently high character and devotion to duty, together with great courage, endurance or gallantry.

It honors ship's boy Jack Cornwell who was awarded the Victoria Cross for courageously remaining at his gun post during the Battle of Jutland in 1916.

The Human had been born with a defect in his muscles which prevented them from developing properly.

Despite this handicap, Keith has passed all scout tests and has tried to join in all games whether physically able to or not. He was awarded the badge for his exceptional fortitude and physical courage.

Young Fraser suffers from a rare congenital disease which causes haemorrhage in various parts of his body. In spite of this ailment, which led to amputation of his left leg below the knee, he has carried on a reasonably normal life.

12 Million Scouts and Guides Pay Honor to Famous Founders

By FREEMAN KING

Over 12,000,000 boys and girls, 7,500,000 Cubs, Scouts, Rovers and Scouters, 5,000,000 Girl Guides (Girl Scouts) today honor the birthday of the founder of these two world youth movements the late Lord Baden-Powell of Gilwell, and his widow, Olave, Lady Baden-Powell who is now living at Hampton Court Palace, London, England. Both were born on Feb. 22.

The "chief," as he was called by everyone, was born in London, England, in 1857. He attended the famous Charterhouse school, where he started his Scouting by snaring rabbits and cooking them, keeping out of sight of the masters.

At 19 he was gazetted as a subaltern in the British army and sent to India, there he was able to put into practice ideas that he had formed, introducing Scouting to the army.

He became famous as the defender of Mafeking during the Boer War, and it was here that he learned the value of the amount of work and trust that he formed a messenger corps in the besieged city.

On his return to England he wrote a series of stories on Scouting which boys in their thousands picked up and put into practice. Thus was the Boy Scout movement formed, in reality by boys themselves.

In 1907 the first Scout camp was held at Brownsea Island on the south coast of England. It was an experiment in which Baden-Powell as Scoutmaster tried out the idea of boys doing things themselves under their own patrol leaders. It was such a success that by 1908 the Scouts were given a royal charter.

In 1909 the first rally was held in the Crystal Palace, London, at which some 10,000 Scouts attended (among them, the writer).

Robert Baden-Powell was knighted by King Edward VII in that year.

In 1912 he married Miss Olave St. Clair Soames, who is now the chief guide of the world.

The "chief" paid his last visit to Victoria in April, 1935, when a rally was held in the old Wil-lows grounds which was attended by 3,500 Cubs, Scouts, Guides and Brownies.

Africa, where he continued to write and sketch. In 1941 he passed away at the age of 84.

A number of Scouts, both white and colored, made a circle of stones around his grave (the Scout "gone home" sign), and as they worked they said:

"Our chief has gone home—so means the sign. Impeesa, the wolf that never sleeps, is-but resting; Kenya's true sons shall watch over him, but the whole world shall love and remember him."

Go safely, my master."

NEVER-WERE-DRIVERS FILL OUR GRAVEYARDS

Canadian graveyards are full of people who never knew the fundamentals of good driving until it was too late, police traffic sergeant Brooke Douglass told a PTA audience at S. J. Willis Junior High, Tuesday.

He said one answer is the driver training course in high schools. He felt accidents would also be reduced if courts were more severe.

"We react in a manner much too tolerant, much too spineless and much too forgiving," he stated.

Oak Bay Student Musicians Face Busy Time on Mainland

A tight schedule awaits the Oak Bay Schools Band when they travel to Vancouver Thursday with their director, Gordon King, the majorettes and vocalist Laurie Noble.

They will board a TCA North Star at Pat Bay at noon and at 2 will give a concert at King Edward High School. That night they will proceed to North Vancouver where they will give a combined concert with North Vancouver High School Band at Hamilton Junior High.

On Friday morning at 9 they are due to play at John Oliver and at 11:30 at Cambie Junior High at Richmond.

A 2 p.m. concert at Richmond Junior-Senior High School will be followed by a change of pace when the dance band section plays for a 4:30 dance session of the combined Richmond High Schools.

It is a project which represents school music authorities' policy of communion between schools and musical development through an exchange of concerts and ideas.

Full demonstration of this policy and its effectiveness will be seen when the B.C. Schools Band and Orchestra Conference assemblies here in April. Oak Bay Schools Band will be a full participant in the conference.

PLAY OPENS TONIGHT

In arena style, Victoria College Intimate Theatre will produce Christopher Fry's play, "The Lady's Not Burning" in the Ewing Building tonight at 8:15. Seen in gay mood are George Cummings, Marjorie Gilbert, who plays 'the lady' and Heather Manson. Production will run through to Saturday.

475 Students JACK BENNY'S DAUGHTER In Display ENDS 6-MONTH MARRIAGE March 2, 3

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Joan Benny Baker, 21, daughter of comedian Jack Benny, is scheduled to obtain a divorce in Reno, Nev., Thursday, from Seth Baker. Friends said she then plans to wed Bud Rudolph, owner of a Beverly Hills haberdashery. The two are scheduled to sail for the Orient on a honeymoon, Saturday. Baker, a New York stock broker, and Miss Benny were wed in March, 1955. They separated last October.

More than 475 students will take part in presenting physical demonstrations March 2 and 3 at Central Junior High.

The mass demonstration, second of its kind to be held in Victoria, is being presented by the Canadian Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

Boys and girls from elementary, junior and senior high schools will participate.

Activities which are regularly carried on in the schools will be shown, such as rhythmic, gymnastic work, tumbling, folk dancing, interpretive and square dancing. In some of the larger numbers as many as 80 students will be in action at once.

The mass event has been in the planning stage a year, with a 15-man committee working out arrangements.

Tickets for the demonstration, which starts each evening at 8, are available at Kent's, Fort Street, or from children in participating schools.

RCMP Costs in B.C. Protested to Ottawa

Attorney-General Robert Bonner advised the Legislature on Tuesday the B.C. government has protested the recent increase in the cost of RCMP policing.

He said the objection was filed on behalf of municipalities. Question was raised in the House by Bruce Brown (Liberal, Prince Rupert). He said RCMP costs are becoming "an increasing burden" to municipal government.

Mr. Bonner said that although the protest had been registered, "the costs are still much lower, and the service better, than if the municipalities maintained their own police forces."

The RCMP took over policing in B.C. from the former Provincial Police in 1947.

Municipalities enter into contracts with the RCMP through the attorney-general's department, and the contracts are ratified by the cabinet.

Anthony Gargrave (C.C.F., Mackenzie) asked for clarification of some "wooly" clauses in the RCMP contracts. He mentioned the case of Robert Fraser, who was beaten into a confession by two former Mounties at Prince George, and asked for strengthening of clauses involving improper actions by RCMP constables.

Totem Pole Insignia Asked for Licences

B.C. motor-vehicle licence plates should bear a distinguishing mark such as a totem pole, Arthur Turner (C.C.F., Vancouver East) said in the legislature Tuesday.

"Quite a number of provinces and states have some distinguishing mark," said Mr. Turner.

He said Harry Duker, Vancouver, has requested the government to put "Totemland" on licence plates.

$12 Daily Pay for Jurymen Proposed by Mainland MLA

Citizens called for jury duty witness to come forward he said.

should be paid double their present allowance of $6 a day, Rae Eddie (C.C.F., New Westminster) said in the legislature Tuesday.

"In lengthy trials, loss of wages contributes, a considerable hardship," said Mr. Eddie.

"Attorney General Robert Bonner advised the House the government 'has no plans at present' to increase jury fees.

George Gregory (L. Victoria), a lawyer in private life, said jury duty is "a duty of citizenship."

He told the House witnesses are "reluctant" to come forward to "help some poor person who is in serious trouble." The same people are greatly concerned when they require a

Standard adds a powerful Aviation Blend to "Detergent-Action" Chevron Supreme

First in the West—an aircraft fuel formula comes to the highway in Chevron Supreme Gasoline.

Like today's giant airliners, modern cars have special gasoline performance needs. Now they're met with Skypower that makes possible all the power your engine was built to deliver!

Proved in Standard's anti-knock research, this Aviation Blend cuts combustion-chamber deposits, prolongs valve life... satisfies the power demands of recent model high-compression engines—improves operation of any car, new or old.

And Skypower comes to you with the highest octane in Chevron Supreme history!

It gives you smoother idling, longer gas mileage, too, because of carburetor-cleaning "Detergent-Action." And Chevron Supreme controls a major source of harmful combustion acids... to extend the life and power of your car up to 135% longer.

This all-new gasoline is balanced to give you not 1, not 2, but every performance feature high-compression engines require. Give your car Skypower with a tankful of Chevron Supreme today!

For top power in cars with lower octane requirements, try Chevron Regular.

BACK WHERE THEY BELONG

Colin Kilburn, left, and Doug Anderson, perpetrators of Victoria Cougars' 3-2 win over Vancouver Canucks at Memorial Arena Tuesday night, have a chalk talk on Cougars' new status in the western division standings. Kilburn notched the winner and Anderson assisted as well as getting a goal of his own, to put the club back in first place over the Canucks by one point. Vancouver had led since November.

Boston Finds Grief—Again, at Detroit

Detroit 4, Boston 1

By The Canadian Press
Boston Bruins ran into grief at Detroit Olympia.

Bruins, battling for the fourth and last playoff berth in the National Hockey League, were eviscerated by Red Wings 4-1 Tuesday night. It was the 19th straight game they failed to win at Detroit.

A win for Bruins—they looked hot until Wings exploded for four goals in the third period—would have put them alone in fourth place and shifted the pressure to Toronto Maple Leafs.

As it is now, Boston is tied with Leafs with 48 points. Toronto gets a chance to move ahead in tonight's lone game. Leafs visit New York, where they have lost all five games this season to Rangers.

LOSING BATTLE
Marcel Bonin, who scored the Boston goal, and goaltender Terry Sawchuk kept Bruins' victory chances alive for 47 minutes. Ted Lindsay, Dutch Reibel, Gordie Howe and Alex Delvecchio fired successive goals in the third period to beat them.

The win moved Wings into second place, one point ahead of the Rangers.

A crowd of 11,248 fans saw Detroit score two goals after Sawchuk had been removed in favor of a sixth attacker. Howe slid a 60-foot shot into the net for his 33rd marker of the season and Delvecchio scored 16 seconds later at 19:39.

Sawchuk was great in stopping Detroit snipers for more than two periods. He handled 41 shots, 18 in the middle session.

Hergesheimer Blames V's, High Salaries

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
The Okanagan Senior Hockey League resolved its tussle about playoff referees Tuesday, but financial worries still dogged the teams.

A. R. Pollard, president of Kelowna Packers, said league president Jack Martin and referee-in-chief Carl Sorenson have agreed to obtain neutral referees for the playoffs.

Pollard said in Kelowna he had been assured by Sorenson that negotiations to provide four referees would begin immediately. The officials will be ready to start the semifinals Feb. 27, Sorenson told Pollard.

And in Vancouver, Phil Hergesheimer, former National Hockey League great and one-time coach of the Packers, blamed the league's money troubles and those of the Western International loop—on high salaries and pension V's.

Hergesheimer hit out at the salaries paid in the amateur leagues.

"Amateur hockey? These guys would have to take a cut to turn pro."

Hergesheimer said the V's are helping kill hockey in the interior.

"They are complacent, have no desire to win. They've won just about everything an amateur club can and think they can do the same whenever they feel the urge. But their play is lack-lustre and not crowd pleasing."

Hergesheimer forecast that both the OSHL and WHL will collapse unless there is a drastic, downward revision of salaries.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—Al Andrews, 163, St. Paul, outpointed Billy Kilgore, 187½, Miami (10).

BEVOS, DODGERS SIGN WORKING AGREEMENT

PORTLAND (AP)—The Portland Beavers of the Pacific Coast League have signed a working agreement with the world champion Brooklyn Dodgers of the National Baseball League.

Joe Ziegler, general manager of the home-owned Portland club, said the agreement provides that players sent here on option from the Dodgers must go back to the parent club if called. But the Beavers still will be free to buy, sell, trade or make deals with other clubs for players without Dodger interference.

The Portland club will not be required to accept players sent here by the Brooklyn club, Ziegler said.

Blistering Quakers Clutch Playoff Rung

Saskatoon 5, Edmonton 3
Winnipeg 3, New Westminster 1

Two strategic struggles in the Western Hockey League's prairie division Tuesday night saw one team clutch firmly at the last playoff rung, while another moved in on league-leading Calgary Stampede.

The blistering Saskatoon Quakers climbed two points out of a last-place tie with Brandon with a 5-3 win over Edmonton Flyers, and Winnipeg Warriors removed themselves three points away from the Flyers and to within a single point of Calgary with a 3-1 win over the touring New Westminster Royals.

At Edmonton, an ankle injury to Flyers' netminder Giles Boisvert in the third period stalled the third-place club's attempt to keep pace with Winnipeg.

GOALIE SWITCH

The score was tied at 3-3 at four minutes of the third when Boisvert had to leave the game after being struck on the ankle with a shot. Young George Kirkwood of the junior Edmonton Oil Kings replaced him in the nets, and gave up the winning goal to Les Colwill of Saskatoon, and an insurance tally to Edie Kobussen.

It was Colwill's second goal of the night. Mid Houghton and Vic Lynn were the other Saskatoon marksmen, while Gerry Melnyk with two and Bill Dea tallied for Edmonton.

A crowd of 6,000 fans, 3,000 of them Minor Hockey League guests, saw the Warriors flash from behind a 1-0 deficit with three goals in the final period.

Motto McLean gave New Westminster their 1-0 lead at 16:45 of the first period, firing a rebound past goalie Ed Chadwick. Royals hung on until 1:19 of the third, when Mickey Keating's goal opened the door for Winnipeg. Gary Aldcorn fired the winner a few minutes later.

REFLECT CURLING UPSURGE

Trail Kids Real KO Experts

TRAIL, B.C. (CP)—Four students who joined forces little more than a month ago are showing a rousing knockout style of play in the Canadian high school curling finals at Fort William, Ont.

The British Columbia entry consists of Howie Ink, 18, skip; Peter Huse, 17, third; Ken Wagner, 18, second; and Merrill Geronazzo, 18, lead.

Although they waited until the provincial competitions before playing as a unit, the quartet is not without experience. With the exception of Geronazzo, a three-year man, the boys have at least four years of competitive experience in this curling-conscious city.

Although curling fans in British Columbia may look to Prairie centres for the toughest competition, the upsurge of the sport in the B.C. interior has been noted.

"When the Ink foursome won the provincial title, the Trail Daily Times said in an editorial: 'Curling has long since broken hockey's stranglehold on the winter sports scene as far as teen-agers are concerned.' And the youthful curlers in Trail are encouraged by

Cougars Hit Crest; To Stay, Says Eddie

Kilburn Gets Winner As Canucks Dethroned

Victoria 3, Vancouver 2

By BILL WALKER

Victoria Cougars are in first place in the western division of the Western Hockey League.

"Yeah, and we're on top to stay," beamed deliriously happy Cougar coach, Eddie Olson, Tuesday night.

"Give all the boys credit," Olson said of the spine-tingling 3-2 victory over Vancouver Canucks at Memorial Arena.

"This was a team victory."

Across the hall, it was a different story.

"Hullo," muttered coach Art Chapman of the Canucks, the last syllable of the word greeting (and farewell) being lost in the clanging of the lock on the dressing room as he shouldered his way out of the gloom and into the night.

The vivid contrast was clearly understandable.

The Cougars had just bulled their way into the league lead for the first time since Nov. 19, 1955.

The Canucks had lost their superiority for the first time in that span of time.

"But to the heroes of the piece, 'It was a rugged fight,' remarked Cougar Jim Robertson, who had set up Skip Teal for Victoria's first goal in the first period.

"I may get a summer holiday after all," commented Doug Anderson, who got the second Cougar counter in the second period to give the Cougars a 2-1 edge at the time (first place carrying) with it a handsome cash bonus.

"If Fred Brown was on the ice then it was him who was draped over me," said Cougar captain Colin Kilburn of the Canucks player, who rode his back as he got the winning goal at 18:43 of the third period.

"It was a lousy goal," remarked Canucks assistant coach Pat Egan, and a hero in defeat, of Kilburn's 37th marker of the year and the straw that broke the tension of a 2-2 deadlock and sent 3,427 fans into ecstasy.

"He should never have got the puck," Egan continued.

"Then Pat soliloquized briefly as he had every right to do.

Gloomy Pat Predicts Revenge

"You only get so many chances," he said of his two sparkling breakaways in the first period which could have settled the issue then and there.

"I was checked on the first and missed the shot; on the second I had Pelletier 'cold turkey,' but hit the post.

"So we lost—but we'll be back."

The Cougar first-place story, which reached its climax Tuesday night, has as its beginning the date of Nov. 19, 1954. It was on that night that the Canucks took over the lead from the Cougars never to relinquish it again until last night.

During that time the Cougar fortunes sagged, rose, fell and blossomed in turn.

The darkest moment came on Jan. 13 in Vancouver when the Canucks took a 4-2 decision as the Cougars were beginning a road trip of seven games in nine nights.

That defeat belied the Cougars a full 12 points behind the Canucks, and hope seemed reluctant to contention.

But the club suddenly started to jell. From then and until last night, they had won 12, lost five and tied one.

Tuesday's victory was No. 13 in the string which today carries with it a one-point edge over the Canucks, each club having 11 games left to play, and three with each other, two at Vancouver.

In addition the triumph was the Cougars' eighth at home since the new year. They have lost but one, and tied two. Their record over Vancouver now is seven wins, five defeats and one tie.

The game Tuesday was a fast, playoff style, and with no favors asked, or given, unless the big Vancouver goal could be considered thus.

It was while Egan was serving a penalty that Phil Maloney, the league's point leader, stole the puck from Anderson in front of the Victoria goal and in one deft movement, flipped a high backhand past Marcel Pelletier into the Cougar net.

Skip's Quickie Made It Even

Teal brought the Cougars even, less than two minutes later, when he outstuffed the Vancouver defence to a loose puck which bounced off the end boards, Robertson having made the pass in. Teal flipped a quick shot off the far post and Ray Mikulan was cleanly beaten.

Anderson happily atoned for his earlier error when he took a perfect pass from Kilburn at 5:38 of the second and beat Mikulan with another low drive.

A peculiar call by Referee Eddie Powers, but strictly legitimate, gave the Canucks their opportunity for the equalizer at 16:10 and they took it.

With the Cougars playing short two men and the Canucks one, Powers stopped the play in the Cougar zone to prevent a fight. With the Cougars in possession of the puck, it seemed obvious that Kilburn could have cleared the disc but Powers, in calling the play, forced a face-off in the Cougar zone. Seconds later Fred Brown tipped Maloney's long drive into the corner of the net to tie the count at 2-2.

The winning counter was an Anderson-Kilburn special. Started off by Arnold Whitney, Anderson broke around Gerry Ehmas and fed a perfect pass to the goalmouth. Kilburn, with Brown riding piggy-back, some how got his stick to the puck and deflected it past Mikulan.

But the tension that was broken with that goal wasn't broken in returning. The Canucks pulled Mikulan in the final 70 seconds and it wasn't for the lack of trying that they didn't score.

Pelletier was sharp in the Cougar win. Three times he beat Cougar players on breaks, Egan was the victim once, while hitting the post, Tom McCarthy goes after his first National Indoor Tennis championship today.

"You'd think we'd won the Stanley Cup."

Then Olson solemnly announced, "Practice tomorrow as usual."

BU'SY SOCCER WEEKEND

Straths, Dockers In Cup Semifinal

Victoria Strathcons of the Coast Soccer League and Esquimalt of the Victoria and District Football Association's first division will have the stage all to themselves Saturday as they play a lower Island Province Cup competition semi-final at Athletic Park.

Winner of the cup match, only game scheduled for Saturday, will meet Brodies Bakery in the lower Island final the following week-end.

FULL SLATE SUNDAY
Sunday, the parks get a bit busier, with eight teams scheduled to play.

In the V&D Football Association's first division, City Merchants will meet Victoria West at Heywood Avenue Park, while in the second division, Butlers meet Tillicums at Central Park. Brodies meet Canadian Scottish at Beacon Hill Park, and Dutch Wanderers play Queen's Own Rifles at Bullen Park.

All games start at 2.

AMERKS SHOW INCREASE IN HOME GATE RECEIPTS

SEATTLE, Wash. (BUP)—The Seattle Americans of the Western Hockey League reported today that attendance at home games this season was far above the level at the same time of the 1953-54 campaign—the last season they were in the league.

Officials said a total of 57,818 paying customers had watched the 29 home games of the Americans so far this season, compared with 35,177 customers attracted by the Seattle Bombers during the 1953-54 professional hockey season.

The Seattle club still has six more home games to play.

B.C. Rink Falls To Nova Scotia

FORT WILLIAM, Ont. (BUP)—Nova Scotia's Sydney Academy rink burst into the spotlight at the ninth annual Canadian High School Curling Championships in Fort William today by toppling powerful British Columbia from the undefeated ranks with a giant-killing 6-3 victory in the fifth round of play.

FORT WILLIAM (CP)—Northern Ontario and British Columbia maintained their winning ways in the Dominion high school championship at Fort William Gardens Tuesday, scoring their third and fourth successive victories.

Two other rinks, however, which started the day unbeaten failed to keep pace. Nova Scotia suffered its first defeat, a 9-5 decision to Northern Ontario on the fourth round after three straight triumphs, while Alberta folded completely, losing on both draws, 6-4 to Saskatchewan in the morning and 12-5 to B.C. at night.

In other games Tuesday night, Manitoba and Prince Edward Island came through with initial wins while Ontario suffered its fourth straight loss, leaving it the only rink without a victory.

MAY BE EXCITING END
If both Wayne Petch of Northern Ontario and Howard Ink of B.C. can hold off the hungry opposition for the next four draws, the result of the four-day classic will go right down to the wire as the two rinks are not scheduled to meet each other until the final draw Thursday.

Neither Petch nor Ink was in any real difficulty in the fourth round games. Ink broke away from a 5-5 deadlock in the seventh to score counts of 3-1-3 on the last three ends to win seven up over Alberta's Barry Coleman.

Saskatchewan's Bob Hawkins, loser of his first game of the championship, came back to win his third straight, 5-4, in an extra end over winless Bill Fraser of Ontario. Hawkins knocked out Fraser's shot rock behind a guard on his final stone and scored on his second shot stone in the house.

The 'Babe' of the Short Pants Sport

NEW YORK (UPI)—Parry O'Brien, the handsome husky from California, stands head and shoulders over the field today as the outstanding athlete of 1956—and he'll take a lot of beating.

Personally, I don't think anybody can touch him. His feat in putting the shot 61 feet 5 1/2 inches in the National AAU championships Saturday night was, whether or not you are a track and field enthusiast, almost inconceivable.

It made him the Babe Ruth and the Bobby Jones of the short pants sport.

Nobody but Ruth ever hit 60 home runs in one season. Nobody but Jones ever slammed golf's British and U.S. Open and amateur championships in one year.

And nobody but the O'Brien ever heaved the 16-pound shot 60 feet—let alone 61 plus.

It was a completely outstanding performance under adverse conditions. His fantastic toss was accomplished indoors, at Madison Square Garden. Not a man who needs an alibi, the 225-pound Parry when he came east for his indoor efforts had pointed out analytically that indoor shot putting was not conducive to record breaking.

"There's a lot of difference between putting indoors and outdoors," he explained. "The most important, probably, is the difficulty of getting the 'feel' of the larger, covered shot used indoors. The difference means several inches, at least."

So what did the man do? A week earlier he flipped the big iron ball 59 feet nine inches for a new world indoor record, breaking his own indoor record by some five inches.

PARRY O'BRIEN
... sport's best for '56?

Stop now, before considering his performance a week later in the AAU championships, and remember that at Helsinki in 1952 he won the shot put championship with a new Olympic mark of 57 feet, 1 1/2 inches.

Subsequently he created the outdoor mark of 60 feet, 10 inches.

So last Saturday night, he started off with a pair of fouls as his motion, carried him out of the shot put circle. One measured 59 feet, the other one 60 feet. Then, fearful that he might not qualify, he settled for 58.6 and 59.4 heaves, made while practically standing still. Then he fouled off a 59 footer—and finally threw caution to the winds with a world's all-time best of 61 feet, 5 1/2 inches.

And every toss was better than the outdoor Olympic record.

But Parry, a lieutenant in the air corps, still isn't satisfied. He's figuring on a shot put-discus double in the Olympics and is hitting 180 feet consistently with the metal plate. The Olympic record is 180 feet, 6 1/2 inches.

"Very happy" with his shot put word record, O'Brien is "really excited" about "finding myself" with the discus. But then, why should he be excited about tossing the shot 61 feet, 5 1/2 inches when no other man ever has hit 60 feet? After all, the young man thinks he'll hit 63 feet before he's finished. And he'll probably do it, too.

Spokane Loves Its Hockey Club

Attendance Down In Other Sports

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—Spokane has cooled off on baseball since 1947 when it was the hottest town in the minor leagues, but hockey has the fans standing in the aisles.

Spokane Flyers won the Western International League Hockey championship Saturday before 6,094 customers in the new Memorial Coliseum. Officially, the Coliseum seats 5,700.

Home attendance is 84,000 for 24 games. With at least three more to go, it could exceed 100,000.

But the sledging is tough for more traditional sports. Professional basketball, admittedly hurt by a losing team and a poor park, drew only 46,000 for 60 games last summer. In 1947 it set a class B record of 287,000. Gonzaga University is about to give up on Coliseum basketball and go back to the campus. Two intercollegiate games this season drew only 800 and 1,000.

UPHILL BATTLE

Selling Canadian hockey in an American city of 180,000 wasn't easy. There are no "sandlot" high school or college teams to develop fans. The Flyers, playing in a cold old arena that could seat only 2,200, lost money every year, starting with a $37,000 deficit in 1946.

In 1953, 25 of the 32 stockholders quit. The seven who were left decided to hang in together hoping the new $2,500,000 coliseum would bring the fans in. It was completed in 1954 and it did.

The hockey corporation now is headed by businessman Ron Robertson. Appropriately, he runs a downtown pharmacy that deals in bandages and iodine. Robertson never played hockey, but he's a fanatic now. He sold 110 season tickets by himself this year.

Converted fans have followed the team on road trips in chartered buses. A group chipped in with more than $700 in gifts for a veteran wingman on "Gino Rozzini night."

Besides Robertson, the chief promoter is Roy McBride, 36, a former Spokane player. He is general manager, executive vice-president, coach and driver of one of the seven-passenger limousines that carry the team on long Canadian road trips.

All 13 Spokane players are Canadians, although a few are taking out U.S. citizenship papers. They earn from $450 to $300 monthly for a 10-week, 50-game schedule.

The Western International is a "senior amateur" league. Spokane is the only American team in the league. The other three are in British Columbia.

Potter Gains On Marinker In Chess Race

TIME OUT!

"May I remind you, Gentlemen, that it's also part of the game to occasionally swing at the puck!"

Rangers Get Garden Dates For Playoffs

NEW YORK (CP)—New York Rangers, almost certain to reach the National Hockey League playoffs this year for the first time in six seasons, will play some of those games at Madison Square Garden, club officials said Friday.

The decision was made in the light of the fact that attendance has been the best in years—and that hockey is playing a major part in making the Garden a going concern.

The circus comes to town April 1 and no hockey will be played here from then on. In addition, boxing and an invitational basketball tournament are scheduled for the last couple of weeks of March and it may take some maneuvering to clear time for hockey.

But the Rangers are determined to play at least several of the semifinal games in New York.

The last time the team made the playoffs, 1949-50, it played two games against Montreal here and managed to reach the finals against Detroit. By that time the circus had taken over for two of the seven games against the Red Wings, the others being played in Detroit.

GRID PEACE A MUST, SAYS RED

Dutton Set to Lead Stamps From Woods

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mervyn Red Dutton seems to be tackling his job as president of the Calgary Stampede of the Western Interprovincial Football Union with the same fiery enthusiasm he displayed as manager of New York Americans of the National Hockey League.

"Frankly, I don't know a quarterback from an end—but this is a matter of straight business," said Dutton, a wealthy Calgary construction executive. "Peace with the National Football League is an absolute necessity," he said.

"This scramble for players, as it now is, is crazy. There are more than 300 players drafted each year by the NFL. Not more than 45 at the outside make the league. What happens to the rest?"

"There are lots of good players around for everyone," he said.

Loss of tackle Ed Henke and end Willie Roberts, both of whom were under option to Calgary, to NFL clubs, did not bother him.

"I wouldn't take either of them back," he said. "I won't have a man on the club who jumps a contract—either way."

Stamps have failed to make the WIFU playdowns the last two years.

What's Good for Petes Is Good for Shamrocks

Irish Invite Ex-Navy Star On 'Look' Basis

A 21-year-old ex-sailor may be shipping, but with the Victoria Shamrocks of the Intercity Lacrosse League this season.

George McCaffrey, a stocky 180-pound forward, who has never played senior "A" lacrosse but who has been a senior "B" star hot enough to attract the Peterborough Trailermen, has been tendered an invitation to join the Mann Cup champion Shamrocks.

Coach Whitey Severson has invited the player to come to Victoria on a "look-see" basis.

McCaffrey is currently living in Wallaceburg, Ont. He was in Victoria last summer with the RCN and played with the Navy senior "B" team.

McCaffrey turned out for several Shamrock practices and was deemed a promising prospect by the Shamrock management. He returned to the east, however, before the season opened.

After his discharge from the navy, McCaffrey played with the Wallaceburg team in an eastern intermediate league and scored an average of five goals and three assists per game in a short schedule. He is described as a good shot and an excellent stick handler.

Before coming to the west coast last year, he had been scouted by the Peterborough Trailermen but joined the navy before they could sign him.

If McCaffrey accepts the invitation to come to Victoria, he would not be classed as an import, never having played senior "A" lacrosse before, but he would have to comply with the Feb. 29 transfer rule, requiring him to be in Victoria by that date.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Construction of a $60,000 roof over 3,200 of the 4,500 seats in Capilano stadium began today, officials of the Vancouver Baseball Club announced. The roof is expected to take six weeks to construct.

MAKE YOUR GREY CUP RESERVATIONS EARLY

OTTAWA (CP)—J. P. McCaffrey, president of the Canadian Rugby Union, says football fans won't go far wrong if they make reservations in Toronto for the last weekend in November to see the Grey Cup game.

McCaffrey, general manager of Ottawa Rough Riders of the Big Four, told a service club forum Monday night that bids from any city to stage the football classic will be listened to March 1 and 2. He said he knows Toronto and Vancouver, which staged the game last fall, plan attractive offers.

However, he added, Toronto apparently is prepared to make field rental and other concessions and fans would not be far wrong to make their reservations there.

DECLINE SETTLEMENT

Dutchmen Wanted Lee, Not Cash

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP)—Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen said Tuesday they rejected offers of a cash settlement from Cleveland Barons of the American Hockey League to settle the Howie Lee dispute.

Pro Golf's Gold Trail Juicy Plum

CHICAGO (AP)—Golf's play-for-pay nomads will be lured by a record $649,000 summer schedule of 22 tournaments, the United States Professional Golfers' Association announced Monday.

Included are the Canadian Open at Beconsfield Golf Club, Montreal, July 5-8, for $15,000, and a tournament at the Royal Quebec Golf Club, July 12-15, for $26,800.

Two new Dallas, Tex., events with purses totalling $100,000 and the first New England appearance of the U.S. PGA meet since 1931 are on the list.

Although the Dallas International Open invitational, May 31 to June 3, bows in with a $70,000 purse, the year's biggest cash attraction remains the $101,200 "world" meet at Tain O'Shanter in Chicago Aug. 9-12.

Both of these shows are preceded by two lesser events, on the same sites, the $30,000 Dallas Centennial Open at the Preston Hollow Country Club, May 24-27, and the Tam C. Shanter $25,000 All-American Open Aug. 2-5.

The PGA championship will be held July 20-24 at the Blue Hill Golf and Country Club, Canton, Mass., a Boston suburb. Golf's biggest prestige meet, the U.S. Open for $25,000, will be held at Oak Hill Country Club, Rochester, N.Y., June 14-16.

British Writers Side With Santee

LONDON (AP)—British sports writers Tuesday described American miler Wes Santee as a "scapegoat" in the track and field battle against professionalism.

They sympathized with the Kansas runner in his suspension by the United States Amateur Athletic Union from track competition and argued that the time had arrived for the amateur tag to be dropped once and for all.

"Carry the Santee case to its logical end, investigate amateur athletics from top to bottom, and Melbourne this year would be a deserted Olympic village," commented Harry Carpenter in The Daily Mail.

It's a change to see British writers putting up an argument for the 24-year-old Santee. Usually they are taking a crack at him.

The AAU barred Santee from future track meets and from the Olympic competition. He was accused of receiving $1,500 over allowable expenses in a series of track meets last summer.

First United Hosts Cowichan Tonight

First United bantam boys will be favored to win the lower Island bantam basketball championship tonight when they host Lake Cowichan Blues at First United gym in the second game of a two-game, total-point series.

First United won the first game of the series, 64-43, Tuesday night at Lake Cowichan. D. Black with 23 points and Daryl Lorimer with 19 led the winners in scoring.

U.S. TEAM WINS

BRIGHTON, England (AP)—The United States Olympic Hockey team squeezed out a 5-4 victory over Brighton Tigers Tuesday for its second straight triumph on an exhibition tour of England.

Monday the U.S. team defeated Nottingham Panthers 11-3.

Three Groups Agree On Wharf Extension

Scheme to Improve Nanaimo Assembly Dock Marks Five-Year Effort by Civic Groups

NANAIMO (CP)—Possibility of a start on extending Nanaimo's assembly wharf in the near future was indicated here Tuesday in an announcement by officials of two Liberal groups.

Douglas M. Greer, president of the Nanaimo Federal Liberal

Association, and Frank W. Wilfert, president of the provincial association, said an agreement has been reached which will pave the way for the extensions.

The agreement, they said, was reached by the federal public works department, provincial public works, and Eureka Sawmills Ltd.

Extension of the lumber loading dock has been sought for five years.

Estimates usually come down in June, and since plans have long since been completed, construction is expected to commence next summer.

Mr. Greer said: "Many legal technicalities are involved in the agreement and the federal government seems to have been delayed for much of the time. It has taken a long time to unravel the problems and reconcile the individual requirements of all parties."

Qualicum Man 'Not Guilty,' Jury Finds

NANAIMO (CP)—Richard Parker, 23, Tuesday was found not guilty of criminal negligence in the death of Walter Zielke on Dec. 16, 1955.

Parker, a Qualicum Beach truck driver, was found not guilty after only 23 minutes deliberation by the jury.

Mr. Justice Norman W. Whitaker told Parker he was "very fortunate" and said he hoped the trial would be a lesson to him.

Zielke, a passenger in a car driven by Parker, died after the car crashed off the road.

Reclamation Plan Will Aid Lake Fishing

CHEMAINUS—A proposal by Dave Hurn, fisheries biologist, to poison Wheddie's Lake as a part of the game department's experimental reclamation project, has been endorsed by the Rod and Gun Club.

Mr. Hurn explained that the department is carrying out a provincial project of reclaiming lakes and waters overstocked with various species and coarse fish. Object is to poison off the coarse fish and replace them with popular sports varieties.

The department is planning an experiment on Vancouver Island lakes this summer. He understood that Wheddie's Lake, which is on property leased by the club for game purposes, was overrun with small cutthroat trout. He suggested that it could be one of the lakes on which experiments could be carried out. In this case "we would not be out to achieve a complete kill," he said, since a partial kill would help the fish to come back in greater strength.

Island lakes allotted to the department for the experimental project will be those not used for domestic purposes, he said. Only minimum and sub-minimum amounts of poison will be used. Experiments will show the effects of the poison on different types of water and on the fish themselves.

Sanitary Inspector Takes Eastern Post

PORT ALBERNI (CP)—Frank Graham, sanitary inspector in the Alberni-Qualicum Parksville area, announced Tuesday he would leave for Halifax at the end of February to become chief sanitary inspector there.

Mr. Graham, employed by the Central Vancouver Island Health Unit, has been stationed here for the last six and one-half years.

AROUND AND ABOUT

With Jo Healy

CAYUSE—It's little to wonder at that today's babies are more advanced, both physically and mentally and at an earlier age, than those of 20-odd years ago. They're no longer handled as though made of finest porcelain, no longer swaddled in layer after layer of heavy clothing, and a lot of delightful nonsense is talked to them from birth. They're fed, too, other than pap and warm milk.

The casual way in which mothers nowadays lift and carry and lay down the supple little bodies, the freedom that the loose and light layette ends to kicking, squirming and stretching, quickly develops a tensile, muscular strength. The diet of "solids" that is introduced shortly after birth tends to discourage a delicate digestive system and to build a solid bone structure.

The constant stream of words spoken as the child is dressed, bathed, fed, and generally tended to, alerts the quick brain, and the infant smiles, coos, and takes notice of the goings-on around him at, to me, an incredibly early age.

I remember our first-born's wardrobe all too well—I had to change the whole shebang every time he got into trouble, which was often. First there was the flannel belt, wool, pinned tightly with little gold safety pins. Then the woolen, long-sleeved vest (those tapes that tightened into knots—how slippery when wet). Next the heavy flannel diaper, folded into numerous thicknesses and covered by a pair of knitted, panty-shaped soakers that retained that dubious odor of wet wool. Then—heaven help us—a barracoot! That, girls, was a garment constructed of pure wool flannel, snuggled under the infant's arms, wrapped around back and chest, falling in heavy folds at least four inches below the soles of the feet. Add a cosy gown of the same length, pin 'em both up over baby's bootie-encased feet; don a knitted jacket to match the booties, wrap the small bundle firmly in a large blanket and pin tightly to eliminate the possibility of a wiggle.

Instead of opening a specially-prepared can of food that needs only to be heated, we went through elaborate preparations of boiling and straining; scraping of meat, and cooking of minute and wasteful portions of food.

As for talking to our young—uh, uh. Might jar his delicate sensibilities. Nobody told me (so how would I know) that nothing quickens the young mind so well as the constant and audible repetition of words and sounds that his own faculties must eventually produce. When our first-born laughed aloud, sometime after five or six months had gone by, I, thinking that he was choking, clutched him to me in terror.

Lucky youngsters they are now, with such a combination of common sense and science to start them on their merry way.

Langford Church Nears End Of Long Building Program

LANGFORD—Langford United Church is now entering the last stages of its building program.

The basement of the Fellowship Hall has been completed and in spite of the temporary heating facilities the move into the building has proved a success. The location on Goldstream avenue is an advantage, and attendance of adults and Sunday school children has greatly increased since the short time of moving.

Already more room has had to be found for the Sunday school in the main section above the basement.

The final effort has now begun to install a modern heating plant, to cost $2,500, and complete the whole structure. The extension committee of Vancouver Island Presbyterian has come to the church's aid on this project.

The church board and congregation have acknowledged support given by residents of the

Chemainus Man Will Study Swedish Mills

CHEMAINUS—John Myers, by-products assistant foreman at MacMillan & Bloedel Ltd., Chemainus, will leave this month to study forestry methods and saw-milling in Sweden.

Educated at Victoria High School, he graduated in forestry from UBC two years ago. Mr. Myers plans to journey to Gothenburg with a friend, Lief Jonsson, where he will study forestry methods, saw-milling and the manufacture of by-products. He will travel in Europe and Great Britain before returning to Canada.

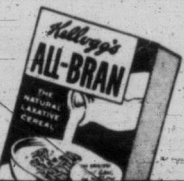

Inquiries have been received by the sawmill office here from two Swedish foresters who are anxious to come to Chemainus and study Canadian forestry methods.

BETWEEN TIMES By MONTE ROBERTS

You would think what a man chooses to put on a man's own head would be a man's own business.

If a man chose to wear a small potted nasturtium atop his head, you would think passersby would be charitable enough to withhold ribald comments.

But this is not so.

Even so entirely inoffensive an item of wearing apparel as my summer hat cannot be worn in peace and quiet.

Now, there is nothing extraordinary about my summer hat. It is very much like other summer hats, possibly a bit more yellow in the band, a bit more flecked with color on the crown. But basically nothing more nor less than a summer hat.

This morning I felt like wearing my summer hat. Perhaps it was because of the rather grey skies, but whatever the reason, there was a bit of a gloomy feeling in the air, and whenever I wear my summer hat, I feel cheered up.

So, just before leaving the house this morning, I put my summer hat on.

And, even before I exited through the kitchen door, the ribald comments began.

"What are you trying to do?" asked My Favorite Wife, "frighten the dog?"

As I walked down the path from the kitchen door, I encountered the milkman.

"My goodness," he said, only he didn't say "my goodness," "ain't you rushing the season, huh?"

On the way to work, passersby eyed me suspiciously and whispered to each other behind their hands.

As I entered the building, Gladys, the ever-loving switchboard lady, sneered openly. "Go home and take off that hat," she ordered. "It isn't spring yet."

Walking into the city room, I was greeted with (a) where did you get that hat (b) how are things in Florida (c) oh you kid (d) has something you ate gone to your head (e) take it off, take it off.

I felt myself blushing under the barrage of comments and alleged wisecracks.

There was only one solution.

I took my sunshine hat and rushed down to see George Warren.

He, at least, believes the sun shines all year in Victoria, and accepts a summer hat without the flicker of an eyelash.

But I still don't see why it isn't a man's own business what a man puts on a man's own head.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

Chill Arctic air is moving in on Victoria, and Thursday will be cloudy with a few snow flurries and temperatures of about 35 degrees.

The weather office said the mercury tonight will dip to between 30 and 32 degrees. Average today was about 38 degrees.

Thursday's cold will not be prolonged, as a warmer air mass is moving in from the Pacific.

A fast-spreading fire in two old frame houses was quickly extinguished Tuesday afternoon by city firemen.

Demolition crews were working on houses at 919 and 923 Johnson street at 11:15 p.m. when a rear wall of one of the buildings was pulled down on top of a rubbish fire.

Flames quickly spread about the wall and leaped to the rear of both houses, and an upper story at 919 Johnson.

Firemen from three fire trucks poured water on the flames and quickly brought the fire under control.

Plastic covers should be provided to protect driver's licenses, Bruce Brown (L. Prince Rupert) told the legislature Tuesday.

The lawyer M.A. said some licences "are so dirty, torn, and greasy" it is almost impossible for a magistrate to endorse them.

"I would be glad to give it consideration," commented Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

In city police court today Douglas E. Wilson, 39 Pilot, was fined $35 or five days in jail when he pleaded guilty to a careless driving charge.

Police said the accused was driving east on Pembroke, Feb. 20, when he collided with the rear of a parked car about 200 feet west of Vancouver Street.

Sentence will be imposed in city police court Thursday on Alexander M. Selson, 49, 670 Battery, on three charges of uttering forged cheques.

He pleaded guilty today to two charges involving $35. A charge in connection with a $20 cheque was heard Monday.

Court was told the accused cashed all three cheques recently at a downtown department store.

Funds for development of Meadow Park, Dysart and Ker, as a playground, will be sought from bing proceeds at a game to be held at St. Martin's Hall, Obed, at 8 p.m. Thursday. Admission will be restricted to adults.

Monthly meeting of Saanich Liberal Association, at Liberal Headquarters Tuesday night, was attended by more than 50 members. Guest speaker was Arthur Laing, B.C. leader of the party, who reported on the current session of the legislature.

Ernie Watson, chairman of the membership committee, reported a satisfactory increase in membership.

BARK BETTER THAN BITE

Out for evening stroll on Fishermen's wharf Tuesday night, Toughie, who lives aboard the Richards' boat, turned into a fire dog. He saw flames shooting from stovepipe of 30-foot Koala. Annoyed at this unusual situation, Toughie gave forth with warning woofs, alerted neighbors who called fire department, saved boat from destruction. Dog's other duties include keeping little Colleen Richards from falling in water. (Times photo by Bill Halkett.)

New Contest Planned For May Queen

Greater Victoria Celebrations Committee will conduct a contest to name its own May Queen this year.

In recent years Miss Victoria, elected annually at the Junior Chamber of Commerce-sponsored B.C. Industrial and Agricultural Exhibition, has been crowned queen of the GVCA celebrations also.

The celebrations committee decided Tuesday to hold a contest to name its own May Queen this year.

The project of finding a queen will be turned over to one of the member organizations, Capt. Norman Foster, GVCA official, said choice would likely be by purchased votes through ticket sales.

Four or five girls with most votes will then be judged for a queen and the others will serve her as "princesses."

Queen's Ball

Crowning ceremonies are tentatively set for Memorial Arena Saturday, May 19, and a Queen's Ball will also be held in the arena Monday, May 21. Units of the United States army, navy, and marine corps have been invited to take part in the proceedings.

The annual parade is set for the Monday also and will include units of Canadian service men from this area. A fly-past of jets will be arranged if possible and, as in other years, all Pacific Coast cities have been asked to send representation.

Capt. Foster said he has already received seven out-of-town entries.

Three Floors For Hospital?

A resolution requesting the federal government to construct a third storey on the Veterans' Hospital was endorsed unanimously at an annual meeting Tuesday of the Britannia branch of the Canadian Legion.

Members felt there is a definite need for additional accommodation due to overcrowding at the hospital.

The meeting, attended by over 300 members, elected Peter Cairns as its new president for the year 1956. He succeeds Ray Parfitt.

Other officers elected were: Robert Love, vice-president; V. T. Millburn, second vice-president; William Gage, finance; A. G. Kenward, house committee; A. Duncan, sports; W. P. Bays, membership; T. Martin, pensions; R. Cruickshank, membership; W. G. Stone and H. Butteris, zone delegates; Rev. J. A. Roberts, padre; K. L. Zeal, entertainment.

GRANDPA BUYS TRIPLETS TALLEST TOTEM SHARES

Grandparents are accepting the challenge issued last week to purchase shares in the world's tallest totem pole.

And today records the first grandfather who can boast he has purchased shares for triplets. Among the eight shares issued to W. A. Smith of Victoria were three for his trio of grandchildren in Vancouver.

The Prime Minister of Canada, Hon. Louis St. Laurent—a proud grandfather in his own right—is the latest dignitary to become a shareholder, courtesy of J. B. Bennett of this city.

Share subscriptions to date total $3,735.50. They may be obtained at 50 cents each, by mail or in person at the Times Broad street office or at 2631 Douglas.

Fifth Burglary Under Investigation

Fifth break-in in less than a week was being investigated by Saanich police today after thieves made off with about $75 worth of cigarettes and meats in an overnight raid at Tillikum Meat Market, 2904 Tillikum.

The burglars entered the premises by forcing a side window, stole cigarettes, canned food and a chicken, then left by the window.

The window was closed so police would not detect the break-in if they passed by in a drowsier car.

The burglary came as city detectives, on special detail, were investigating a recent rash of break-ins in the city.

CO-OPERATION

They are co-operating closely with Saanich police in attempting to solve the wave of burglaries.

Two attempted break-ins were reported to city police.

Someone smashed a small hole in a glass pane next to a lock at Sheering's Food Market, 810 Catherine, overnight.

An attempt was also made to pry a Yale lock, but no entrance was gained.

Mrs. L. McKenzie of Mac's Grocery told police Tuesday she had scared off two young men last night before.

She said she was in the rear of her store when she heard a tapping on a plate of glass in the front door. When she came to the front she saw two young men run away.

A piece of glass had been broken near a lock.

Meanwhile, police urged all store-owners to keep their stores well lighted at night and report any suspicious actions by strangers immediately.

Other victims in the current rash have been Kam's Farm Market, 350 Burnside, some $500 in cigarettes and groceries; Avenue Grocery, 2725 Rock Bay.

Firm 'Ignored' Road Inspector

Wade and Wells 'Chosen Instrument' of Sommers

A former government road inspector testified today his orders were ignored by the contractor on the controversial Stewart-Cassiar road during 1954.

W. H. Forrest of Victoria, told the Legislature's mining committee that "engineers in Victoria" agreed with him that the contracting firm, Wade and Wells, "were the chosen instrument of the minister."

When this suggestion was put to him by Liberal Leader Arthur Laing, Mr. Forrest replied "Absolutely."

Lands and Forests Minister R. E. Sommers has been under attack for the cost-plus and equipment-rental no-tender job to his hometown firm.

Mr. Forrest was inspector on the road in 1952, 1953, and 1954. He said he had had no trouble with the previous contractor, McIsaac, of Whitehorse, but that he had "many difficulties" after Wade and Wells took over in 1954.

WOULDN'T RETURN

"I wouldn't go back for $1,000 a day with Wade and Wells on the job," he told the committee.

The 62-year-old surveyor said his troubles with the firm stemmed from the very start, when he was asked to go to Vancouver to meet Wade and Wells, and advise the contractors of difficulties they would encounter in the north.

He went to Vancouver with a Douglas Layton, who had been hired as government timekeeper on the job.

"They were too busy to come and see us," said Mr. Forrest.

He said he returned to Victoria after two days of trying to meet with Wade and Wells.

INTRUDERS

He said that when he got up to the job, he and Layton "were treated like intruders."

He mentioned one instance where "Mr. Wells went over my head." The project was running short of funds. Mr. Forrest informed the contractor he was going to Watson Lake to phone the department to ask for further money.

"Wells said he was going down to phone the minister," said Mr. Forrest.

"As you can see, feelings were rather strained on both sides."

He said they both finally went, in different vehicles, "both using government gas."

He said the job foreman, a "Bud" Neely, told him when he got to the camp "he didn't want Layton around," and that he (Forrest) would not be in the way if he stuck to blazing the trail ahead of the construction crew.

OVER MY HEAD

He said Wade "was very nice," but that Wells "went over my head several times, and did not carry out my instructions."

Mr. Forrest testified work done in April and May of 1954 by Wade and Wells was "uneconomic," because the project should not have started until after the ice went out of the ground.

"There was no use working up there until the end of May," he said.

He said he told Wells the camp would have to be closed down on Oct. 21, and that he was told "we will carry on."

"I couldn't do anything further, so I packed up and left," he said.

He said the camp was still operating when he left, but he did not know how long it continued.

He said he returned to Victoria once during the season, in July, and talked with Neil McCallum, now resigned chief engineer of the public works department, but that he did not repeat any of his complaints.

"Why?" he was asked.

UNDERSTOOD

"I didn't make any complaints because the whole situation was understood."

Bruce Brown (Liberal, Prince Rupert) asked "What was understood?"

"He understood that Wade and Wells were going over my head," he said.

Mr. Forrest testified that he instructed the contractor how culverts should have been placed, and the upper ends cleared to prevent their being washed away in spring.

He said the foreman "ignored that." Fifty or 60 culverts were involved.

Mr. Forrest also told of a two or three-day visit to the road camp by Lands and Forests Minister Sommers. He said he did not pass on any complaints to the minister.

He said he made reports every two weeks, and "I thought he knew."

The surveyor said another

CAR LICENCE OFFICE OPEN ON SATURDAY

Motor vehicle branch offices, all over B.C. will remain open from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday to make easier last-minute purchases of 1956 auto licence plates.

Normally, offices are closed all day Saturday.

A spokesman for the branch said no extension of deadline would be granted and persons driving without new plates March 1 would be liable to prosecution.

He added facilities would be open for renewal of drivers' licences at the same time.

Figures Detail B.C.'s Advance

Natural Resources Conference Hears Analysis of Steady Growth

Three-day sessions of the ninth annual B.C. Natural Resources Conference opened here today at the Empress Hotel.

Approximately 250 delegates representing all phases of the province's resources were welcomed by Lands and Forests Minister Robert Sommers, who predicted such conferences would widen scope of provincial resources development.

First of the broad slate of speakers was E. D. MacPhee, director, school of economics, University of British Columbia.

He gave figures on the economic status of the province, 1939 compared with 1955.

Population increase in this period was 65 per cent; industrial employees upped 106 per cent; electrical consumption rose 20 per cent; lumber production increased 132 per cent; pulp produced jumped 361 per cent; weekly wages increased 70 per cent; milk production up 44 per cent; apple tons increased 15 per cent; zinc rose 35 per cent; herring in millions of pounds, increased 67 per cent; fish landed rose 48 per cent, and tourist entries were 153 per cent up.

Decreases were in copper, 38 per cent, and lead, 20 per cent.

Apart from Mr. MacPhee's presentation, speakers this morning dealt with characteristics and growth of the population.

Gordon G. Taylor, research assistant, Parks and Recreation Division, B.C. Forest Service, Victoria, made these main points:

Migration, mostly from the prairie provinces, constitutes the major element in B.C.'s population growth.

Nearly 80 per cent of migrants have southwestern B.C. as their goal, with the Fraser Valley and Vancouver area receiving 60 per cent.

B.C. appears to be a major attraction of young adults.

LABOR DOWN

There is a decrease in the total population of the labor force.

There is an increase in numbers of manufacturing workers.

B.C. continues to be predominantly British in origin, making up two-thirds of the population. In each decade since 1921 nearly two-thirds of the population increase has come from migrants, playing a more important role here than in any other province.

At latest figures, 20.6 per cent of B.C. residents were prairie-born.

Increase in growth of residents over aged 65 between 1931 and 1951 increased 226 per cent. "This is particularly true of Victoria where the percentage rose from 13.1 to 17.7" between 1941 and 1951.

In 1953 the birth rate of 25.8 per 1,000 inhabitants marked a new high. Death rate is relatively higher than elsewhere in the province.

Noted Pianist Arrives Early For Rehearsals

Canadian pianist John Knight, who will be guest artist with the Victoria Symphony Sunday and Monday, arrived here today to begin rehearsals.

His arrival, unusually early for a visiting artist, is dictated by the complexity of the work in which he will be featured: it is Rachmaninoff's variations on a theme by Paganini, in itself difficult enough, but made much more so by the 24 variations devised by Rachmaninoff.

Conductor Hans Gruber calls the work "the last word in pianistic fireworks."

Rehearsals will begin tonight.

ASK The TIMES

Q. How did the Cedar Hill district come to be so named? There are thousands of oak trees in the district, but I cannot recall seeing any cedars.

A. According to the provincial archives, Cedar Hill is a purely local name for Mount Douglas, probably stemming from the fact that a good stand of cedar trees is found there. Mount Douglas was named after Sir James Douglas, who gave the grant of land for the park. At one time Mount Douglas Park was known as Hyde Park.

Q. In what year did the Frank slide occur, and how many survivors were there? What slid?

Mrs. W.G.M.

A. The eastern part of the town of Frank, Alta., in the Crown's Nest Pass was buried about 4:10 a.m. on April 29, 1903, when the top of Turtle Mountain broke away and roared down on sleeping inhabitants. There were 66 known deaths but the legend that 18-months old Marion Leitch was the only survivor is not true. Part of the town was not damaged. Marion's two young sisters also were dug out of the debris.

The Italian Trend Is Seen In New Spring Shoes, Too

By PENNY SAVER

It's often been said that a woman's good grooming can be measured by looking at the state of her shoes. And well it may be, for if attention is given a relatively small thing like a pair of shoes, one may be sure that even more attention is given the rest of the wardrobe. Smart, attractive shoes are always in demand by fashion-conscious females, so I think you'll be interested in the newest styles that have arrived in Vogue, Mademoiselle and other leading fashion mags, you've probably seen the interesting Italian cut shoes in what is called the disappearing silhouette. Slim, flattering high heels and a low vamp, cut straight across are the features. The ones I saw were in popular black patent leather—a first note for spring.

Also in black patent are other low cut shoes that feature the slim, slim heels. This style has a very narrow strip across the lower part of the deep-scoop vamp. On this strip is a small bow. Either pair costs $9.98. A surprising price for such high fashion.

In natural or suede are the rounded Italian line shoes that have an inverted scoop vamp. They dip at the sides, and have the eye-catching narrow heels. This pump will lend itself well to the new fashion picture. In the same shades are the pumps with closed heel and open scalloped toes. The vamp gives a soft pleated effect. These two styles are $11.98.

Manufacturers of a well-known brand of jewelry have finally come through with a bracelet that will adjust to fit the smaller than average wrist. These bracelets are of pink, green, blue or white round stones set in an accompanying bracelet. To put it on, just stretch the hinges, and press it to fit. To remove it, reverse the procedure. It will fit any sized wrist comfortably. They cost $1 each.

For homemakers and part-time chefs who enjoy dabbling in the kitchen and making interesting salads, desserts and such, here's an item that will be much appreciated. For 35 cents, you may buy a large bag of miniature marshmallows. They're just the right size for candy, salads, and any of the dishes that call for marshmallows. No more cutting large ones down to size, now, 'cause these are so small that you can heap a great many of them on a tablespoon, whereas you could fit only one or two large ones on the same spoon. There are four recipes on each bag, and when you buy a bag, there's a sheet of additional recipes that comes along, too.

CWL Subdivision Membership Plans

A program to increase membership was discussed at a recent meeting of St. Andrew's Cathedral Subdivision, Catholic Women's League, and, in this connection, meetings for conveners and committees in the parish hall were suggested by Father D. Johnson, director for a "daytime" division.

Mrs. E. Payne presided. Report from Miss Rosalie Roberts, of the Junior CWL, listed the following events and conveners: Miss Emily Kobelsky, Communion breakfast at Strathcona Hotel; Mrs. Ken Kissinger and Mrs. M. Romano, home cooking sale in the Market Building; Mrs. Fred Griffin, refreshments for annual meeting of Perpetual Help Credit Union; Mrs. Jean Kennedy, annual party for members and guests at White Eagle Hall; Mrs. M. Griffin, white elephant sale.

A tea, organized by the senior subdivision, was convened by Mrs. E. Payne.

During the meeting, Miss J. Madeline Clay, national convener of organization-west, reported on the national convention held in Montreal.

It was announced that at a special session at which afternoon tea was served, there was an attendance of more than 50 members. The affair was convened by Mrs. Bruch, assisted by Mrs. W. Martin, Mrs. O'Toole and Mrs. J. Sullivan.

Mrs. Wurtele Cuts Birthday Cake

Head table was decorated with red tulips, pussy willow and red and white motifs for the ninth birthday banquet of the Ladies' Auxiliary to Esquimalt Branch, Canadian Legion, No. 172, held last weekend in the hall. Seated with the president, Mrs. H. Ketchel, were Reeve A. C. Wurtele and J. Carey, who represented Esquimalt municipality, and Mrs. Wurtele, honorary president of the auxiliary, who cut the birthday cake. W. Glover and J. Pollock played for dancing later in the evening. Mrs. B. Sheadman was the convener.

At a recent meeting of the auxiliary, Mrs. Ketchel presided and Mrs. G. Ludlam reported on visits made to the sick in Naden and other hospitals and at home. Mrs. N. Herd reported on the bingo games held each Thursday in the hall and plans were made for a silver-tee in March. A new member, Mrs. B. Smart, was initiated.

GIRL GUIDES

Langford—A tea was held by First Langford Brownie Pack in the Legion Hall, Dunford Ave. in honor of the mothers. District commissioner, Mrs. Lloyd Mills, was a special guest and presented Mrs. Brian Hanson with her Tawny Owl warrant and pin and Mrs. L. Green with her "tenderfoot" pin and welcomed her as second Tawny Owl in the Pack. Assisted by Brown Owl, Mrs. M. Thomas, Mrs. Mills enrolled Joy Gilham, Susan Waring and Shirley Milne as Brownies and presented Donna Stearn, Margaret Adam and Joan Henry with their Golden Bars.

Employment agencies report hundreds of former secretaries and stenographers are putting their pre-marriage office experience to good use, boosting their income and relieving the routine of home-making. Most agencies say business is going up. Most strive to place their registered part-timers in the same area where they live.

Help the Indian Speaker's Plea

The Indian must be encouraged and helped to go forward, Mrs. J. G. Bompas told members of the First United Women's Missionary Society at a meeting this week. Rev. and Mrs. Bompas have spent years working among Indians at Alberni and in other parts of British Columbia.

The Indians are a very religious race, she told her audience, also very musical. They have their own choirs and festivals. They are clamoring for more education. In British Columbia there are 13,000 Indians of Protestant faith and in Canada there are 20,400 being helped by the United Church.

The speaker pointed out that many more nurses, teachers and religious leaders are needed in the hospitals and schools along the coast of British Columbia.

Mrs. Alastair Campbell presided and introduced the speaker. Mrs. J. Riddle took the devotionals; Mrs. G. S. Mitchell reported 108 home and hospital calls in the past month; Mrs. S. Sweetnam was soloist and Mrs. J. Parry and Mrs. J. W. Stephen were in charge of a talent table.

Following the meeting Mrs. F. McIntyre served tea, assisted by conveners of the WMS groups. Reports on the presbyterial meeting were given by Mrs. W. A. Hobbs and Mrs. R. Thurber.

A MID-MARCH WEDDING DAY

Mr. and Mrs. Trevor G. Roberts, 1321 St. David St., announce the engagement of their younger daughter, Gwyneth Carlyle, to Mr. Thomas Morgan Earl, son of Commander Paul W. Earl, CBE, RCN (R) and Mrs. Earl, of Montreal, Que. The marriage will take place at St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, on Saturday, March 17, at 3.30 p.m. Miss Roberts was in the group of debutantes who were presented at the United Services Ball in the Empress Hotel in 1954. (Photos by Posen Portrait Studios.)

OF PERSONAL INTEREST

Lieutenant-Governor in Vancouver

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Frank MacKenzie-Ross are in Vancouver to attend the University of British Columbia Commerce banquet in Hotel Vancouver on Thursday evening. They will return to Government House early on Friday.

For Royal Roads Visitors

Wives who are accompanying high military officials and prominent educationalists of the Canadian Services College advisory board to Victoria this weekend, include Mrs. Ralph Campney, Mrs. R. R. Miller, Mrs. Ian Johnson, Mrs. S. H. Dobell, Mrs. J. H. R. Gagnon, Mrs. Charles Foulkes and Mrs. A. H. Zimmerman.

In their honor a sherry party and luncheon has been arranged by Mrs. J. A. Charles, wife of the Combined Services College commandant, at her Royal Roads home, on Friday.

Saturday evening, Mrs. Charles has again arranged a buffet supper for the wives while their husbands attend a mess dinner in The Castle at Royal Roads. Later, both parties will go on to the ball in the Cadet Block, culminating the annual sports tournament of the three Canadian tri-services colleges which coincides with the visit of the advisory board.

At Admiral's House

Rear-Admiral H. F. Pullen, RCN, Flag Officer Pacific Coast, and Mrs. Pullen will entertain at a luncheon on Saturday at Admiral's House in honor of Hon. Ralph Campney, Minister of National Defence, and Mrs. Campney. The minister will be in Victoria with the advisory board of Combined Services College at Royal Roads.

Friends Honor Bride-Elect

Red roses and Stephanotis en corsage were presented to bride-elect, Miss Elizabeth MacAndrew, at a miscellaneous shower given in her honor recently by Mrs. George D. Glover and Mrs. R. D. MacDonald at the Olive Drive home of the latter. Mrs. J. M. MacAndrew, mother of the bride-elect, and Mrs. F. Hardisty, mother of the groom-elect, received carnation and hyacinth corsages in pink and yellow, respectively. Other guests at the party were Mrs. R. Boal, Mrs. G. B. King, Mrs. A. Bray, Mrs. J. McKay and Mrs. W. Heybrook.

Golf Club Coffee Party

A coffee party will be given at Royal Colwood Golf Club on Saturday from 11 to 1 by active lady members of the club to introduce and welcome new members. Receiving guests will be the captain, Miss Margaret Mahoney and Mrs. H. G. MacKenzie, vice-captain.

Committee members in charge of arrangements are Mrs. S. G. Evans; Miss D. W. Spencer; Mrs. J. Norworthy; Mrs. V. Clunk; Mrs. N. E. Gerrard and Mrs. L. W. Kerr. Presiding at the coffee urns will be Mrs. A. Hendry, Mrs. N. Blakey, Mrs. H. E. Vaio and Miss Marjory Press. Assisting in serving guests will be Mrs. W. H. Yardley, Mrs. W. Erickson, Mrs. V. ## Mrs. W. Sheridan Addresses Metropolitan Church WMS

A special guest at a meeting of Metropolitan United Church Women's Missionary Society was Mrs. W. Sheridan, missionary worker from China, now assisting in Oriental work in Victoria. Mrs. Sheridan spoke on the subject "Sincerity" and conducted the devotionals. Mrs. H. O. English presided.

Mrs. W. H. Muncy, program leader, introduced Mrs. Sheridan and reviewed chapter two of the missionary study book "Coming Our Way," which is concerned with work of the United Church with port workers who help immigrants as they enter the country. Mrs. P. Neffel was soloist.

Mrs. J. D. Wilson, Mrs. M. Berry and Mrs. H. C. Steel impersonated port workers at Montreal and Quebec as they welcomed "immigrants" from Britain, Germany, Italy and Holland.

Reports on the 30th annual Women's Missionary Presbyterial were given by Miss F. M. Castleton and Mrs. J. Boorman. Mrs. J. R. Standen took prayers. Tea was served by Mrs. F. Heulin.

FAIRFIELD WMS PLAY ON FRIDAY

The original three-act play, "Coming Our Way," sponsored by the Woman's Missionary Society of Fairfield United Church in Sir James Douglas School auditorium, has not taken place, as reported. It is to be presented on Friday evening, Feb. 24, commencing at 8 p.m.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

By FREEMAN KING

PARKDALE TROOP held its annual father and son banquet Tuesday evening in St. Mark's Church hall, Bokeskine Road.

Chairman was W. Kelly and among the guests were Rev. Canon R. Willis, Scouters Bob Webb, Art Chamberlain and the writer who gave the address. My talk to the fathers and boys brought out the five "A's" in scouting—adventure, action, achievement, assembly and admiration.

Troop leader Tom Collett was presented with his Queen's Scout badge, and the Lion patrol won the shield for the month. Scouts themselves put on a first-class show with skits and plays. A magic show by Irvin Duke was well done.

At the conclusion of the evening the troop was presented with the entertainers badge.

TILLICUM GROUP will hold a paper drive on Saturday. The Cubs, Scouts, Guides and Brownies will hold a special church parade on Sunday afternoon at 3 to St. Martin's-in-the-Fields Church.

WINDSOR PARK "B" PACK held its regular meeting on Tuesday evening when Allan Ferguson received his toymakers badge. The Windsor Park, Oak Bay, Willows and St. Philip's groups will hold a church parade on Sunday afternoon at 2.30 to St. Philip's Church. About 225 will attend.

Congratulations to Dr. Lance Cornish of New Westminster on being awarded the "Silver Acorn." Dr. Cornish at one time ran the North Quadra Troop in Victoria. Plaudits also to Scout W. (Hip) Powell of Duncan on receiving the Medal of Merit.

LARAMIE Wyo. (UP)—Joe Mastrogiovanni, the Brooklyn Cowboy who bolstered Wyoming University's football team for three years, has chosen to play Canadian professional football.

The university athletic department said today that Mastrogiovanni had signed a three-year contract to play for the Calgary Stampede. He had been a draft choice of the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League.

Mastrogiovanni was an invaluable quarterback in Wyoming's modified single wing, and perhaps the best clutch player in the skyline conference.

ask Andy

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books? Then ask Andy!

Andy sends a complete, 16-volume set of The Children's Hour to Cheryl Ann Mack, aged 10, of Wichita, Kansas, for her question:

Will an Ermine Turn White in Warm Winter Weather?

The ermine is really a weasel. See enough sunlight to stir up in a white winter coat. Under his color-making glands. So either name he is cousin to the mink, the marten, the otter and the sable. Surely this must be the most expensively dressed family in the animal kingdom!

The weasel changes from summer to winter wear by shedding his fur. He grows an entirely new coat for spring and fall. In summer, his soft fur is always a fine blend of toast color and tawny brown, with a black tip to the tail. The winter coat is always thicker. If he lives in the southland, where little or no snow falls, his winter coat is also tan. But if he lives in regions of winter snow, his winter coat is white—with a black tip to his tail.

Of course, the furry little hunter's color helps him to blend in with his background. He can sneak up on countless rats and mice without being seen. He can hide from his enemies—the owls, the eagles and the snakes. For he matches either the white snow or the brown earth—which ever is in season.

Let's take a weasel from Wisconsin for a vacation in Florida. And let's take a Louisiana weasel up for winter sports in Oregon. We would expect the northern weasel to change into a winter coat of brown this season. And surely the southern weasel would know enough to don a white coat for sliding in the snow. Not at all.

The northern weasel will not wear a coat of tan in the Florida sunshine. He will change his coat as usual to snowy white ermine. The native son of the south will don his winter coat of brown up north, according to his custom. Naturally, neither little fellow will last long in such surroundings.

The brown weasel will soon be spotted by his enemies against the white snow. And the white weasel will show up like a beacon in the browns and greens of Florida.

How a weasel changes to an ermine is no longer a mystery to the experts. His hair colors are made by certain glands in his body which cause pigments to color the fur. These glands are stirred up by the sunlight as it strikes the little fellow's bright eyes. In fall, the daylight hours are short. He doesn't

And sends a copy of The American People's Encyclopedia Yearbook to Tony Gordon, age 12, of Williamsport, Penna., for his question:

What is T.N.T.?

There is an innocent chemical called toluene. It is a clear liquid. Toluene may be collected from the vapor of coke ovens. Or it may be distilled from coal tar. Much of it is used in the manufacturing of dyes.

When treated in a very special way with nitrate, toluene loses its gentleness. It becomes the high explosive called tri-nitro-toluene, or T.N.T. for short. It is in the form of pretty crystals ranging in colors from pale yellow to reddish brown. Actually, several forms of T.N.T. can be made by nitrating toluene. All are high explosives.

You may look at the pretty crystals without fear of an explosion. An expert may even handle them, rub them together, or drop a few. As a high explosive T.N.T. is far safer to handle than, say, nitroglycerine which explodes without an excuse.

Herring Fleet finds Bonanza

More than 60 seiners in the area were pulling in catches of 100 tons. The packers were unable to handle, and seemed headed for the biggest catch in the history of the herring fleet.

More than 50,000 tons had been taken by Tuesday, with the largest one-day catch standing at 100 tons.

Some of the seiners were expected to travel to packing plants on the mainland to unload their catches.

Langford Lions Will Attend Zone Meeting

LANGFORD—Arrangements for a zone meeting to be held at Ladysmith March 17 and 18 were made by Langford and district Lions Club at its recent meeting held in the Chevrolet parlors.

It was announced that a reception in connection with the zone meeting will be held at Yellow Point on the evening of March 17.

Following the dinner meeting, Beltrone showed National and Dr. Pardi pictures.

Dr. Embert Van Tilburg was introduced as a new member by Mark Fuller, vice-president. Mark Fuller took the chair in the absence of the president, Charles Smith.

More Ottawa Aid On Education Aim of Williston

On Tuesday, endorsed an opposition suggestion that the provincial government seek increased aid in the field of higher education from Ottawa.

It was urged by Randolph Harding (CCF-Kaslo-Slocan). "I do think the federal government could give very great assistance at that level, and also at the technical level," said Mr. Williston. "It would be dollars well spent."

On individual help to university students, as proposed by Leo Nimsick (CCF-Cranbrook), the education minister said "we all agree, theoretically," but that enlarged bursaries constituted the field of present endeavor.

Extension Proposed

Chairman Haig Brown of the civic police committee also suggested at Monday's council meeting that two additional constables be added to the police force, as well as a full-time stenographer. The proposals were referred to the finance committee for consideration.

Forest Board Asked Sloan From Interior

Appointment of a nine-member provincial forest commission to have jurisdiction and control over all matters connected with forestry and parks in B.C. was urged here Monday at resumption of the Sloan royal commission on the province's forest industry.

The submission was made on behalf of the Interior Lumber Manufacturers' Association by counsel Alan Moss.

Included in the commission's duties would be control and administration of wild life and water, directing both the forest service, game branch and water rights branch in these matters.

In addition, the brief urged appointment of three regional advisory committees for coastal, southern interior and northern interior regions of B.C., each regional committee also to consist of nine members.

It was suggested that 60 per cent of total forest revenue be paid into a fund put at the disposal of the proposed commission, and remainder of total revenue be paid into consolidated revenue.

The nine provincial commissioners would be appointed by the minister of lands and forests of whom one, to be elected by commissioners, would be chairman. Terms would be for five years.

Regional committee appointments would consist of three members appointed by the minister at his discretion; three by the minister on recommendation of wood industry associations; one member on recommendation of wood industry associations; one member on recommendation of wood industry associations; one member on recommendation of wood industry associations.

Recommendations in the brief followed in general outline proposals made by Chief Justice Gordon Sloan in forestry hearings held in 1945.

Famed Negro 'Prophet' Out of Jail

DETROIT (AP)—Amid shouts from his flock that "all is well," James F. Prophet Jones returned to his paternal home Tuesday after a night in jail to await examination on a morals charge.

Some 300 of his followers overflowed the court room as the Negro religious cult leader stood mute at his arraignment. Recorder Judge Gerald W. Groat entered a plea of not guilty and set examination for Feb. 29.

Jones, 48, was arrested Monday at his 54-room mansion on a warrant charging him with gross indecency. It was signed by a vice squad officer who went to the "prophet" over a period of weeks for cure of a supposed arm ailment.

The gaudily-dressed Jones termed the charges a "frame up." He is founder and leader of the "Church of Universal Triumph, Dominio of God, Inc."

NEW YORK (AP)—Bob Cerv, 29-year-old outfielder, signed his 1956 contract with New York Yankees Tuesday. He is the 33rd Yankee to sign.

Operation for Cancer Handicapped Needless, Says Court Seeking New Building Here

B.C. Court of Appeal Tuesday awarded damages to a patient against a Vancouver doctor, following mistaken diagnosis and surgery for a non-existent cancer.

Mr. Justice C. H. O'Halloran said the court will hear arguments on damages March 6 or later.

A judgment handed down a unanimous decision reversing a lower court decision by Mr. Justice H. W. McInnes. He had dismissed a suit against Dr. Roger Wilson, a B.C. Cancer Clinic consultant in Vancouver.

The patient, Swan Swanson, of Lethbridge, claimed negligence after a 1951 operation when portions of his stomach, pancreas, liver and all of his spleen were removed.

Mr. Justice O'Halloran stated: "As things turned out at the trial, the patient operated on for a cancer he did not have has never been able to learn the reason why."

"He and people like him should not have to develop the belief that the conduct of a professional medical man in such a case is not open to a full investigation in the courts of British Columbia."

Swanson was recommended to the Vancouver surgeon by Lethbridge doctors for treatment of a stomach ulcer. An exploratory operation was advised and removal of the ulcer. Mr. Justice O'Halloran said apparently the Vancouver surgeon reached the same conclusion.

CHANGED MIND However, just prior to the operation the surgeon changed his mind and decided to operate for stomach cancer. The court noted that the hospital pathologist was not called upon until the operation began and there was doubt of cancer.

"This is not a case of treating a cancer that did in fact exist; it is a case of treating a cancer that did not exist, and engaging in surgical treatment."

G. A. Wilkinson Named President Delegates to the second annual meeting of the Pipe Line Contractors' Association of Canada returned to their homes today after re-electing George A. Wilkinson of Vancouver as president.

Other executive officers re-elected at the Toronto meeting were R. K. Bannister of Edmonton, first vice-president; C. A. Callahan of Oakville, Ont., and E. W. Costello of Calgary.

It, upon the assumption cancer did exist but without first taking readily available precautions . . . the court continued.

"The respondent never did make a thorough investigation of the appellant."

Mr. Justice O'Halloran added, "One would think it vital in the interest of the patient and the profession, that every diagnostic precaution be taken before going to the operating table."

The organization is in danger of losing premises at 917 Pandora because of its inability to make improvements demanded by city building and fire inspectors.

Fred Blakeney, League of the handicapped and goodwill spokesman, said the city has offered to provide a building site if the organization can obtain funds.

It is hoped, he said, to construct a one-story building with a cement floor and other special facilities for handicapped workers who engage in renovation of clothing for resale.

But if the organization remains in its present quarters it will still require substantial aid in order to provide adequate facilities, Mr. Blakeney said.

Firemen Cleared OTTAWA (CP)—Six city firemen Tuesday were cleared in court on charges of drinking beer on premises where it was kept illegally for sale.

Controller Roy Donaldson, who reports to city council for the fire department, said the dismissals will be investigated by Toronto magistrate Harold W. Timmins.

City council Monday night authorized magistrate Timmins to conduct a detailed inquiry into the fire department's organization and administration. The appointment follows recent suspension of a district fire chief charged with assault, dismissal of the six firemen on drinking charges and dismissal of another fireman as a result of a morals charge.

Changes against the district chief were subsequently dismissed but his suspension is still in effect. The morals charge against the one fireman has not yet been heard.

Members of the force will present him with an honorary police badge and other gifts at a farewell get-together Thursday night.

4½ Million Words In Forestry Probe

The Sloan Royal Commission on B.C.'s forest industry was H. F. Frederiksen, told the commission many marginal stands of timber now being left "could add substantially to our general economy if extracted at a nominal stumpage." Many timber stands are now being passed over because of stumpage rates set on crown timber, he said.

The Chief Justice and his staff have travelled 2,500 miles and will have heard an estimated 4,500,000 words of evidence before hearings end, expected in May.

Sittings are currently being held in the Empress Hotel.

A brief submitted Tuesday by Robert B. Walkley on behalf of the Interior Lumber Manufacturers' Association proposed a modification of B.C. Forest Service appraisal methods.

This was asked "to allow both the operator and the government a fair share of the sum available for stumpage and profit."

It urged a reappraisal to adjust for major fluctuations in the selling price and in direct logging costs.

Scheduled to be heard today was F. J. G. Johnson, president, F. G. Johnson and Associates Ltd. Industrial Foresters, Vancouver.

Mr. Johnson was expected to attack the forest public relations service as "poor."

Forest revenues for the year 1953-54 was more than $19,000,000 and expenditures on public relations and education was about $50,000, just 26 per cent.

Mr. Johnson said: "It is my belief that had there been better public relations and education, there would not have been this present controversy regarding forest management licences and other forest legislation and regulations."

BRUCE HUTCHISON EXPLORES SITUATION IN OTTAWA

St. Laurent Facing First Real Test of Political Leadership

By BRUCE HUTCHISON, Editor, The Victoria Daily Times
OTTAWA—The first real test of Prime Minister St. Laurent as a party leader is now approaching. By common consent he has been a successful prime minister. By the records of two elections he has been the greatest vote-getter in Canadian history. But he has yet to prove that he understands the management of that vast and complex organism called a national party as it was understood by King, Laurier and Macdonald.

The immediate future of Canadian politics will turn largely on Mr. St. Laurent's capacity to unite and lead a Liberal party now deeply confused in private and faltering badly in public.

Mr. St. Laurent's career as prime minister has been all sunshine until now. His unequalled personal prestige, combined with a gigantic business boom, has insulated him from the troubles of his predecessors. There have been greater prime ministers. There has never been a prime minister so fortunate or so universally popular or so inwardly serene.

The long phase of serenity, beginning in 1948, is now over. Mr. St. Laurent faces, apparently with surprise, his first baptism of fire. How will he endure it? That question must be answered before Parliament prorogues this year and the answer will establish the climate of next year's election.

The 1955 session of Parliament undoubtedly damaged the government—how much no one knows. Anyway, a government which had split wide open on the gas pipeline question and stumbled into the fiasco of C. D. Howe's Defence

Production Act was resolved to avoid such blunders in 1956. It would confront Parliament united, assured and regnant.

Instead, the session had hardly got under way before the government began to appear divided, confused and hesitant. Its mistakes were trivial in substance but gaudy in look.

Mr. Howe, an unpredictable and almost sovereign power, and Lester B. Pearson, the first Canadian of world-wide renown, managed between them to hand the opposition an unearned dividend in the case of certain insignificant arms shipments to Egypt.

To be sure, these shipments amounted to nothing in themselves but, through an inexcusable mistake among his officials, Mr. Pearson misinformed the House on the facts, had to correct himself and concluded the argument with a flashing counter-attack.

The opposition had drawn blood from a minor Liberal artery and seemed to think that it was reaching for the jugular. Actually it had made the government look foolish for the moment but had accomplished nothing likely to be remembered six months hence.

Then came a series of little absurdities. Agriculture Minister Gardiner, who is loosely associated with the cabinet, achieved a garish indiscretion and persuaded the speaker to expunge it from Hansard. The speaker, who enjoys the respect of all parties, apologized to the House with a fine candor. Mr. Gardiner wriggled and the nation smiled.

Then the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation contributed its own private snafu to the nation's merriment by arranging, and then suddenly cancelling, for unknown reasons, a broadcast on a new book which attacks and distorts

MISSING JET PILOT SAFE IN B.C. WILDS

EDMONTON (CP)—The RCAF reported today that a jet pilot missing since Sunday afternoon, has been spotted 80 miles northeast of Fort St. John, B.C.

Fort St. John is 350 miles northwest of Edmonton.

The RCAF said the pilot, FO Ernie Howlett, a 27-year-old Australian, appeared to be in good condition.

An Otter plane, equipped with skis, was sent from Fort St. John to pick him up.

The pilot, on a long-range navigational flight from his base at St. Hubert, Que., bailed out Sunday on a 400-mile flight from Annette Island, Alaska, to Fort Nelson when his fuel supply ran low.

The RCAF reported the wrecked aircraft was spotted near FO Howlett.

St. Laurent Firm On Tax-Share Plan

Ottawa Not Prepared to Increase
Basic Offer Made to Provinces

OTTAWA, (CP)—The federal government feels it cannot increase its basic offer for a tax-sharing deal made to the provinces in January, Prime Minister St. Laurent has informed provincial premiers.

Mr. St. Laurent made this known to the Commons today in tabling letters to the premiers in which he also informed them the federal government is willing to have a new federal-provincial fiscal conference March 2 or 9.

The prime minister indicated his government is ready to make "some modest development" on details of its January proposal but added it feels its own financial situation for the next few years does not warrant further substantial commitments to the provinces.

REJECTS CRITICISM

He also rejected January criticism of the federal offer by Saskatchewan, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, whose premiers had claimed it did not give enough weight to fiscal needs of individual provinces.

The major "modest development" decided on by the central government is that, for the calculation of the corporation tax part of its latest offer, it would not treat provincial taxes on insurance premiums as special corporate taxes.

He added, in view of suggestions for another top-level conference: "I feel it would not be fair to the provincial governments if I failed to indicate at this time that the federal government would not justify adding any amount to its own fiscal situation in the next few years substantial further financial commitments beyond those already proposed."

The new conference was sought officially by Saskatchewan and New Brunswick. Several other governments have indicated they will attend.

Mr. St. Laurent's letter did not constitute an invitation to a general conference, only a willingness to participate if most of the provinces want one.

AIDES CLAIM IKE WILL RUN

DETROIT (UP)—The Detroit News said today that Sherman Adams and Leonard Hall, the President's top administrative and political aides, are telling top Republicans flatly today that President Eisenhower has decided to seek a second term and will announce his decision next week.

The News, in a dispatch from Washington by correspondent Martin S. Hayden, said it had been told there "were no ifs, and, or but about it."

194 Men Die In Barracks

CAIRO (Reuters)—The Arab news agency reported from Khartoum tonight that 194 Sudanese farm workers arrested after a violent weekend clash with police at Kosti, in Blue Nile province, died today in the army barracks where they were being detained. The cause of death was not immediately known.

A total of 638 workers were detained after the clash last Sunday in which 20 workers, two policemen and a village guard were reported killed.

THREAT BY TERRORISTS

Seized Soldier Dies If Cypriot Hanged

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UP)—Anti-British insurgents said today they will kill a captured British soldier if 18-year-old Michael Karaolis is hanged as scheduled for the murder of a Cypriot policeman last year.

The "EOKA" underground answered an appeal for information from the missing soldier's mother in England, in leaflets warning that his life hinges on the fate of Karaolis.

The soldier, Lance-Corporal Gordon Hill, 22, became the Cypriot rebels' first "prisoner of war" last December. Today's threats were the first acknowledgment that he was in the hands of underground leaders.

Karaolis has appealed to Britain's highest court in London, the privy council, for reprieve. The Greek language newspaper Philatheros published a letter from Hill's mother Tuesday.

"I appeal to you to tell me if he is dead or alive or whether he is a prisoner," she wrote. She addressed the letter to "the EOKA."

The answer threatening the soldier's life in retaliation for that of Karaolis was contained in leaflets distributed throughout Cyprus today.

NEWEST MYSTERIES IN LONDON

Did Queen Laugh at Racy Revue? Why Did Horse Visit Palace?

FROM UP AND AROUND
LONDON (UP)—British reporters said today they were prevented Tuesday night from describing Queen Elizabeth's reaction to a mildly racy sketch in a French revue, "La Plume de Ma Tante."

In the scene called "Trapped" two men find themselves unable to get out of one of the circular booths the French keep on the sidewalks as public comfort stations.

A few minutes before the "trapped" scene came on, the Queen's detective-guard, sitting behind the Royal party, whispered to Jack Hylton, a representative of the show, Hylton whispered to his publicity man who whispered to the reporters.

"We would be obliged if you do not watch the reaction of the Royal Family to this part of the show," he said.

The reporters filed out and stood in the foyer. They heard roars of laughter and then they filed back in.

"I hope the Royal party found the scene as funny as the rest of the apparently rocking house," Hickey wrote. "But I cannot say."

Following the show a horse went to Buckingham Palace all by himself to repay the visit by the Queen. Police halted him just short of the royal doorstep.

The animal, a 10-year-old white Arab named Caid, is in the cast of the French revue.

Not long after the final curtain, late homegoers were astonished to see Caid, riderless, trotting toward the palace.

He was followed by a somewhat breathless bobby on the dead run and a Frenchman in cowboy regalia shouting, "Caid! Mon ami!"

At the palace gate a police squad car barred the procession and a detective jumped out and collared the animal.

His rider said "I think maybe he liked appearing before the Queen so much he went to Buckingham Palace to play an encore."

Seven Killed In Stormy Northwest

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—The second disastrous storm of the winter season covered the U.S. west coast with death and destruction.

The three-day combination of howling winds, heavy rains and drifting snow began easing off today but floods still imperiled residents of several areas. The storms caused at least seven deaths and numerous floods in Washington, Oregon and California.

Railroads and highways were blocked by slides, whole communities were isolated and communication lines were ripped out throughout the three-state area.

The weather bureau cancelled storm warnings which had been in effect for 48 hours, but warned there would still be occasional rain and snow. It said, however, the huge storm centre, "hanging" almost motionless off the Washington coast, had spent its fury.

Floods isolated the farming town of Connell, Wash., and the Grant's Pass, Ore., area declared a state of emergency as waters of the Rogue River reached flood level.

Aid Logger Shortage

OTTAWA (CP)—A spokesman for a British Columbia loggers' delegation said today the federal labor department has agreed to help locate qualified men in eastern Canada for work in B.C. woods during the coming logging season.

SENTENCED

Convicted of forging a will in the $75,000 estate of a resident of her home for old people, Mrs. Frances Maud Steele, Duncan, has been sentenced in Nanaimo Assize Court by Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson to serve 18 months in Oakalla.

BCE Hydro, Thermal Electric Projects To Add 450,000 H.P.

A $50,000,000 hydro and thermal electric program was announced today by Dal Grauer, president of the B.C. Electric.

The program will add more than 450,000 horsepower to the electric supply of the lower mainland and southern Vancouver Island over the next five to six years.

Mr. Grauer said it is by far the largest power program undertaken in the 59-year history of the company, almost double the size of the Seton and Cheakamus projects, totalling 248,500 horsepower. These will come into operation this summer and next.

Mr. Grauer said work will start this year on a $7,000,000 130,000-horsepower thermal electric plant which will generate energy by burning natural gas.

It would be the first large-scale plant of its type in Canada. Super-hot gases would be applied directly to the turbine blades of the four generating units, in much the same way a turbo-jet aircraft engine functions.

No intervening step involving a boiler and steam is required.

Mr. Grauer said the thermal plant is being built to complement the hydro-electric system during critical water years.

The station also will supplement hydro-electric capacity in the event of unforeseen mechanical troubles in the winter months of peak demand.

The plant's location had not yet been finally chosen but it would be placed somewhere on the fringe of metropolitan Vancouver.

Three of the four machines would be operating in 1958. The project would take 30 months to complete.

Construction Starts This Summer

Construction will start this summer, Mr. Grauer said, on the development of the $43,000,000 second and ultimate stage of the company's Bridge River generating plant.

Four new machines totalling 320,000 horsepower will be added, raising the total capacity from this source to 568,000.

This would require another massive storage dam to impound water for year-round operation of the four new generating units; a second 2 1/2-mile tunnel through Mission mountain, and a new power station approximately half a mile west of the existing plant.

Mr. Grauer said two of the four machines will be installed and operating by 1959. The third and fourth are scheduled to go "on the line" in 1960 or 1961, depending on how rapidly the demand for energy builds up in this area as a result of population and industrial growth.

When the job at Bridge River is completed, this development and the satellite station at nearby Seton Creek will be able to send more than 2,000,000,000 kilowatt hours of energy a year south to the lower mainland and, via the underwater cables, across to Vancouver Island, he said.

This was well over twice the present output from Bridge River.

Power would travel the 130 miles to Vancouver over the present 230,000-volt Bridge River line and also over a new 345,000-volt circuit now under construction.

Completion of the new line has been scheduled to coincide with the time the added power becomes available at Bridge River, he said.

Soviet Trade Treaty Details Next Week

OTTAWA (CP)—Details of a "most favored nation" trade agreement between Canada and Russia likely will be announced in the Commons next week by Trade Minister Howe.

A trade department official said today negotiations between Canadian experts and a seven-man Soviet delegation are in their final stages. The talks are expected to end late this week.

The treaty is expected to involve the sale of millions of dollars' worth of wheat to the Soviet Union. However, there is no indication how much wheat will be sold.

Recent speculation has suggested that purchases might amount to about 15,000,000 bushels a year for the life of the agreement. However, authoritative sources state this figure is not correct.

Any wheat bought by Russia would be paid for in dollars.

A most-favored-nation agreement would put Russia on the same basis for trade, in goods covered by the treaty, as the United States and other countries with similar agreements with Canada. This also is the basis on which trades with Communist Poland, Czechoslovakia and China are made.

Signatories of the 34-country General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade also exchange the same tariff concessions.

Nine Negro Ministers Arrested in Alabama

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Nine Negro ministers, including a world leader in the African Methodist Episcopal Zion Church, were arrested today in indictments charging participation in Montgomery's bus boycott.

The international church leader picked up on a warrant charging illegal boycotting was Dr. S. S. Seay of Montgomery, executive secretary of the home missions board of the Zion churches of the world.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

ALMIGHTY GOD, lead us, we pray Thee, to seek guidance in the crisis of our times. Grant that we might have fortitude and faith to face with courage and wisdom the problems of our family, civic and national life; in Jesus' name. Amen.
